INDIA TO RESTRICT ENTRY-LEVEL CHINESE SMARTPHONES: REPORT

Chinese makers could be barred from selling phones cheaper than ₹12,000 in the Indian market, according to Bloomberg

MOVE TO HELP DOMESTIC BRANDS

The proposed move is aimed at helping homegrown brands such as Lava and MicroMax and pushing Chinese giants out of the lower segment of the world's second-biggest mobile market, the news agency reported. The development comes amid India's tough stand against Chinese manufacturers and recent raids on OPPO, Vivo and Xiaomi

BODY BLOW TO XIAOMI, OTHERS

- Exclusion from India's entry-level market would hurt brands like Xiaomi that rely heavily on India to drive growth
- Industry estimates say smartphones under ₹12,000 contributed to a third of India's sales volume for the quarter through June, with Chinese brands accounting for 80% of those shipments

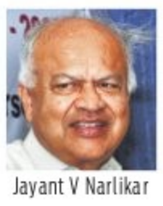
Anti-Big Bang theory scientists face censorship by int'l journals

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

SCIENTISTS from across the globe, including India, who are refuting the Big Bang theory on cosmology are facing resistance and censorship from journals and archives of international repute where they get their research papers published for peer review.

The Big Bang theory holds that the universe was born out of a highly compressed, dense and microscopic point (called singularity), which exploded with a huge force some 13.8 billion years ago, resulting in everything arising from that singularity moving outwards in all directions. From this, all cosmic matter (as we know it today) was formed at different stages through time until now.

Twenty-four astronomers and physicists from 10 countries including reputed astrophysicist Jayant V Narlikar of Inter-University Centre for Astronomy and Astrophysics, Prof Sisir Roy of National Institute of Advanced Studies (NIAS) and Prof Amitabha Ghosh of Indian National Science Academy (INSA) from India are among the scientists protesting the censorship of papers critical of the Big Bang hypothesis, by the open preprint website arXiv.



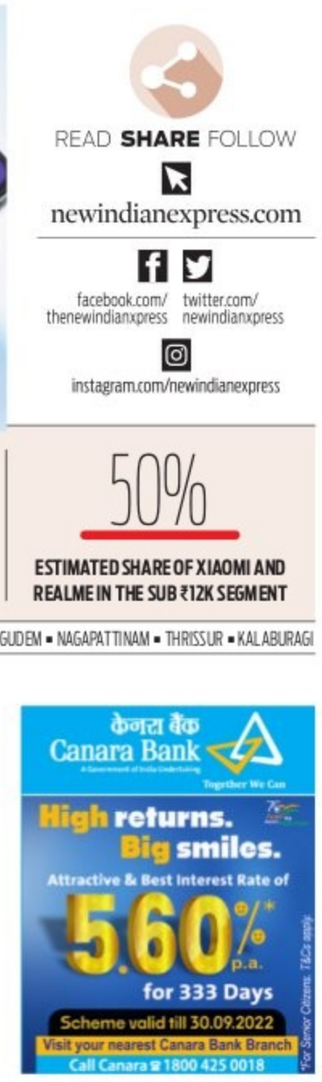
Jayant V Narlikar

"As scientists engaged in the study of the cosmos and the relation of phenomena in space to those on Earth, we strongly protest arXiv's censorship of controversial papers on cosmology and specifically on the Big Bang hypothesis. Run by Cornell University, arXiv is supposed to provide an open public forum for researchers to exchange pre-publication papers, without undertaking to peer-review them. But during June 2022, arXiv rejected three papers which are critical of the validity of the Big Bang hypothesis. No specific reason was given," the scientists wrote.

Arindam Mal of the ISRO Ahmedabad and Sarbani Palit of the Indian Statistical Institute, Kolkata also faced difficulty in having their research paper Redshift Periodicity and its Significance for Recent Observation, which counters the Big Bang hypothesis — published in peer-reviewed journals like Astronomy and Astrophysics Journal, and Monthly Notices of the Royal Astronomical Society. CONTINUED ON: P5

WHAT'S THE BIG BANG THEORY?

According to a NASA explainer, the Big Bang theory indicates how the universe began — as just a single point, then expanded and stretched to grow as large as it is right now. It is still believed to be stretching



Govt records show 28k more Covid deaths

SHILPA P @ Bengaluru

AS many as 28,000 more Covid deaths have been reported in the state by the Directorate of Social Security and Pensions (DSSP) of the Revenue Department. This is in addition to the 40,121 deaths mentioned in the daily media bulletin issued by the Health Department.

Admitting that there is a difference of at least 28,000 deaths, health department officials attributed the disparity to the expansion of the definition of deaths due to Covid.

So far, the state government, through DSSP, has cleared the compensation of ₹267.93 crore to the families of 53,586 people who died due to Covid so far. As per these figures alone, the health department has missed 13,465 Covid deaths.

In fact, DSSP has received applications from 60,444 families, while the claims of 2,894 are still under process. The DSSP, under the State Disaster Relief Funds, has released Rs 50,000 each to the family of the deceased as per the guidelines of the National Disaster Management Authority.

Health department sources said the difference in the number of deaths in the media bulletin and DSSP list is only because of the expansion of the definition of Covid deaths. "Earlier, deaths of Covid-affected people only at hospitals were recorded by the health department. But now, deaths even at homes or elsewhere are considered as Covid deaths followed by clinical correlation. The kin of the people whose names are missing from the health department list can approach the grievance committee to get the compensation," an official said.

Health Commissioner D Randeep said, "We are waiting for the government's guidelines and approval to include the additional Covid deaths (recorded by DSSP) in the media bulletin."

Electricity (Amend) bill introduced in LS, sent to panel amid Oppn's rage

RAKESH KUMAR @New Delhi

THE controversial Electricity (Amendment) Bill, 2022, which is expected to escalate Centre-state confrontation, was introduced in the Lok Sabha on Monday and later sent to the Standing Committee on Energy for vetting.

The bill mandates state electricity regulatory commissions (SERCs) to specify regulations to progressively reduce cross-subsidy, which is subsidising one set of customers at the cost of others. It requires SERCs to adhere to the National Electricity Tariff Policy while determining cross-subsidy.

Subsidies will not be accounted for while fixing tariff; subsidies will be provided directly to consumers.

The bill allows multiple distribution licences within the same area of supply. No applicant who fulfils all the conditions can be refused a licence. It also provides for graded revision in tariff over a year besides mandatory fixing of maximum and minimum tariff by the appropriate commission.

Introducing the Bill, Union power minister R K Singh called it "pro-people and for the growth of our economy" that would allow consumers to choose from multiple electricity distributors. But experts feel otherwise.

According to the All India Power Engineers Federation (AIPEF), it would intrude into the powers and functions of the state governments, abolish subsidies and cross-subsidies and harm farmers and consumers alike. "It seeks to centralise almost all functions of the DISCOMS as well as SERCs, thereby changing the entire character of the electricity supply industry and existing legislation as well as the federal structure," said Shailendra Dubey, chairman of AIPEF. He also said the area of licence has not been clearly defined. "This would lead to cherry-picking and eventually in privatising profits and nationalising losses."

Former Power Secretary Subash Chandra Garg told this newspaper the sector can be reformed only when state distribution utilities are dismantled, private entities take over business like in Delhi and states support farmers and other vulnerable sections by providing direct benefit transfers. "Unfortunately, this bill has none of these provisions."

Privatisation of profit?

It envisages allowing multiple private companies to provide electricity in the same area, a provision that could lead to privatisation of profits and nationalisation of losses
- Manish Tewari, Cong

It's contrary to the assurances given by the govt to the SKM during their protest. It had at that point agreed to shelve amendments to the Electricity Act
Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury, Cong

The proposed amendments are dangerous... They will only benefit a few power distribution companies
Arvind Kejriwal, Delhi CM

Electricity is on the concurrent list. It is the bounden duty of the Centre to have effective consultations with state governments before introducing the bill
- N K Premachandran, RSP

Farmers will continue to get free power. There will be no rollback of subsidy
- R K Singh, power minister

Monsoon session ends four days ahead of schedule

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

MONSOON session of Parliament ended four days ahead of schedule on Monday as both Houses were adjourned sine die. According to the Ministry of Parliamentary Affairs, the session was supposed end on August 12 but was curtailed due to completion of essential government business and in view of two public holidays ahead -- Muharram on August 9 and Raksha Bandhan on August 11. However, the Opposition accused the government of running away from discussing bills and other important issues.

The session witnessed repeated disruptions with the Opposition members aggressively raising the issues of inflation and the ED action, while the BJP vociferously protested Congress MP Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury's Rashtrapatni remark. A record number of Opposition 27 MPs were suspended — 23 from Rajya Sabha and 4 from Lok Sabha — for unruly behavour.

The government had set a target of passing 32 Bills, including 24 new ones, but the Lok Sabha could pass only seven and the Rajya Sabha five. The Lok Sabha functioned for 48% of the scheduled time while the Rajya Sabha functioned for 44% of the time.

Attacking the government for curtailing the session, Trinamool Congress Rajya Sabha MP Derek O'Brien tweeted, "This is the seventh consecutive time (since Budget Session 2020) Parliament session has been cut short. Stop mocking Parliament. We will fight for its sanctity..."

Congress Rajya Sabha MP Jairam Ramesh said, "Early adjournment is at the government's request. We were prepared to discuss Bills."

The monsoon session is supposed to be the last one to be held in the old building as the government plans to hold the winter session in the new building expected to be completed before the next session.

NITISH SET TO BOLT, LEAD NEW GOVT WITH RJD, LEFT?

SHAHID FARIDI @New Delhi

BIHAR is all set to have a Maharashtra's Maha Vikas Aghadi-type coalition government comprising all non-NDA parties, as Chief Minister Nitish Kumar's Janata Dal (United) indicated it may snap its ties with the BJP.

Sources said Nitish has already spoken to interim Congress president Sonia Gandhi and the leaders of the three Left parties — CPI(ML), CPI(M), and CPI, besides Lalu Yadav and Tejashwi Yadav, leaders of the main opposition party RJD.

All opposition parties have agreed to support Nitish as the chief minister. According to sources, all supporting parties are likely to join the new government, which will be sworn in within this week.

All the non-NDA parties have called their MLAs to Patna where a formal approval for supporting a new government would be sought from them. Congress general secretary in-charge of Bihar Bhakt Charan Das has flown into the state capital to iron things out.

A formal announcement of breaking alliance with the BJP is likely to be made by the JD(U) after the meeting of its MPs and MLAs in Patna on Tuesday.

Politics in Bihar took a critical turn on Sunday with JD(U) president Rajiv Ranjan Singh attacking his party's ally BJP without naming it. Singh said attempts were made in the past to get JD(U) candidates defeated in Assembly elections. He said a 'Chirag Model' was used in Bihar by getting Ramvilas Paswan's son Chirag Paswan to field candidates against the JD(U) to reduce the number of JD(U) MLAs in the state legislature. There were reports that Chirag was supported by the BJP in the last election.

Singh did not elaborate, but hinted that former JD(U) president R C P Singh was at the centre of a conspiracy to split the party. The JD(U) issued a show-cause notice to R C P Singh following which he resigned from the party's membership.

Speaking to reporters at Patna, JD(U) spokesperson K C Tyagi said, "Nitish Kumar is the undisputed leader of the JD(U). He commands respect in the rank and file. Whatever decision is taken by the party under his leadership will be accepted by everyone."

The RJD, too, has called a meeting of its lawmakers on Tuesday. RJD national vice-president Shivanand Tiwary said both parties convening meetings of legislators was a clear indication that the situation was extraordinary. "We cannot ignore the fact that both parties, which together had sufficient numbers for a majority, have convened such meetings when an Assembly session is not round the corner," Tiwary said. P9

Groper fish all across Karwar beach spark debate

SUBHASH CHANDRA N S @ Karwar

GROPER fish, which have a good commercial value, are found strewn all across Rabindranath Tagore beach in Karwar, triggering a debate between fishermen and experts over the cause behind it. While some say it is due to global warming, marine biology experts disagree.

The fishermen are not venturing into the sea after an alert issued by the met department. It has been more than two months since they cast their nets. The sea is very rough with huge waves hitting the shore. "Groper fish swim in deep water. They have come ashore because the water deep down is getting colder," said Prakash Banalikar, a local fisherman.

Vinayaka Harikantra, another fisherman, echoed Prakash's view by saying that the sea water is very cold these days. "We are seeing Groper fish on the beach for the first time. It is due to cold water. We can feel the cold water when we enter the sea at its shallow end," he said.

Many were happy after the fish were found on the shore. "The sea has become a mirage for us these days. We are so glad that we are able to catch these fish on the shore," says Prakash.

Shivakumar Haragi, Assistant Professor, Department of Marine Biology, Karnataka University, Dharwad says Groper fish are coming ashore due to upwelling process, which happens during monsoon. P5

Panic as hoax bomb threat on Indigo flight delays landing

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

PANIC prevailed on board an Indigo flight carrying 175 passengers from Jaipur to Bengaluru on Sunday night just before it was scheduled to land at Kempegowda International Airport (KIA). An anonymous message saying a bomb was planted on the flight was found scrawled on a tissue paper in one of the toilets. The Flight Captain contacted the security agencies at KIA and landed the flight only after receiving clearance. The threat turned out to be a hoax.

Flight No. 6E 546 had taken off from Jaipur airport at 6.46 pm, 11 minutes behind its scheduled time and landed at 9.26 pm. The passengers were allowed to leave KIA only around 2 am on Monday.

A security official said a message written in Hindi was found by a cabin crew member on a tissue paper inside the rear toilet. It read: 'Land na karna, is flight me bomb hai' (Do not land, there is a bomb in the flight).

The airline staffer who spotted it alerted the cockpit crew who then contacted the Central Industrial Security Force (CISF) and the Air Traffic Control (ATC) unit. P2

BDA MASTER PLAN 2041 LIKELY TO GO ON DRAWING BOARD SOON

E-commerce dept proposes using drones to capture images, instead of satellite

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

THE contract for the much delayed Revised Master Plan 2041 for the city, prepared by the Bangalore Development Authority (BDA), is set to be awarded to a bidder who has quoted Rs 8.44 crore. In another development, the State's e-commerce department has proposed using drones to take photographs of the entire city to facilitate preparation of the plan, which could be the first such in the country.

This blueprint to develop the city was to be ready in March 2017, but was delayed due to numerous issues, and the city still relies on the 2005-2015 Master Plan. The minimum quote during the financial bid -- Rs 8,44,26,100 -- was made by Delhi-based Rudrabhishekha Enterprises, in partnership with Bengaluru's Sky Group, said a top official. This was half of what the next bidder, Lea Associates, quoted at nearly Rs 17.5 crore (Rs 17,49,39,000).

There were only two bidders for the technical and financial bids called by the BDA. This is the second time tenders have been called after the previous round received zero response, he said.

"The contract would naturally be given to the lowest bidder. The bid results have been tabled before the BDA Board and a written confirmation is awaited, he added.

"The bidder will be given 18 months after the work order for the project is issued. It can be issued only after the latest satellite images are ready," another official said.

Drones to be used?

The BDA has already paid Rs 1.4 crore to the Karnataka Satellite Remote Sensing Applications Centre to capture satellite images. "It is likely to capture the images in November or December, when it is less cloudy. It is not possible to take images accurately in the prevalent weather conditions, as we need pictures with a resolution of 15cm," he said.

During a meeting held recently by the BDA and other departments, the e-commerce department proposed using drones instead of satellites, as the accuracy would be better, another official said. "The Urban Development Department is examining it and if okayed, BDA would be the first government body in the country to use drones for the Master Plan," he added.

Mock tests helped B'luru student top JEE, Sathvik shares rank with 23 others

DONNA EVA @ Bengaluru

ONE Bengaluru student has bagged the top rank of the Joint Entrance Exam (JEE) Mains 2022, sharing the All-India Rank 1 with 23 other students across the country.

The National Testing Agency (NTA) released the results of the JEE Mains 2022 for Paper-1 (B.E./B.Tech) on Monday, with 8,72,432 students registering to write the examinations.

Boya Haren Sathvik, from Narayana Olympiad School, Bengaluru, scored 100 percentile in the examination, getting All-India Rank 1, as well as the first rank in Karnataka. He is the sole student from Karnataka who shares the ranking with 23 other students who also scored 100 percentile.

"I had taken a lot of mock tests to get into the flow of the examination, especially as it was a computer-based examination. I focused a lot on Physics and Chemistry," he told TNIE. He hopes to get into IIT-Bombay and pursue Computer Science, and is also planning to write JEE Advanced. He scored 100 in Physics and Mathematics, and 98.98 in Chemistry.

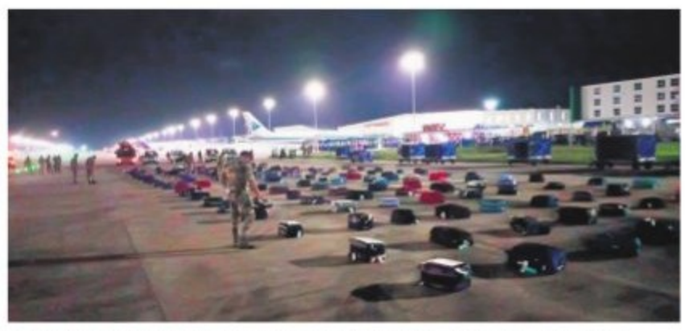
Sathvik is also one of four OBC-NCL category students to score 100 percentile in the country. Meanwhile, according to statistics put out by NTA, Pavitra Gupta is Karnataka's female topper with a percentile of 99.94. Karnataka student Tanmay Gejapati is the all-India topper in the Scheduled Tribe category, also with a percentile of 99.94.

Two Common Entrance Test (CET) toppers Apoorv Tandon from National Public School and Shishir R K from Narayana E-Techno School, are in the top 100 ranking, with Shishir getting AIR 56 and Apoorv getting AIR 71.

KEA PAPER VERIFICATION SUBJECT TO COURT ORDERS

Bengaluru: Hearing petitions filed by Common Entrance Test (CET) repeat students challenging the Karnataka Examination Authority for not considering their pre-university marks before determining the final rankings, the Karnataka High Court on Monday made it clear that the document verification being done by the authority will be subject to further orders of this court. Justice S R Krishna Kumar passed the order and adjourned further hearing to August 18. The petitioners are contending that the non-consideration of 50 per cent of PU marks while notifying the ranking list was a violation of CET-2006 Admission Rules. For freshers, the KEA took into account the 50 per cent PU marks obtained in the PU examination held in 2021-22 and 50 per cent of CET-2022. Around 24,000 repeaters appeared for the test in 2022 and have been protesting for the marks not being added in the rank list. Last year, the state government decided that CET rankings will be given on the basis of the CET score only for repeaters as they did not write the board exams due to Covid-19. ENS

Horrific, tiring experience, says flyer



Security staff check the baggage of all the flight passengers on Sunday night

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

INSTEAD of stepping out of Kempegowda International Airport (KIA) at 9.05pm on Sunday, 175 passengers on board the Indigo flight from Jaipur to Bengaluru were finally allowed to leave their flight at 2am Monday.

A young flyer who spoke on condition of anonymity, billed the experience "horrific and tiring". The availability of just one toilet for all passengers after landing was particularly trying, he felt.

"After the flight landed almost on schedule, the Flight Captain appeared before the passengers and said that sabotage was suspected, so the flight would be isolated for some time. The flight was steered to a distant spot and we remained on board almost till 11pm," the Bengaluru resident told TNIE.

In a short time, the toilet at the end of the flight was shut and passengers were barred from using it. "This was a bit of an issue as many had to wait to use the single toilet," he added.

Each passenger was made to write down contact details and address. "We were allowed to leave the flight in batches of four, after frisking and checking cabin baggage. Our check-in baggage was spread out and we were asked to identify our luggage. That too was checked over and over again," the passenger said.

They were then put on a bus and taken to the airport via a separate gate. "We were seated in an area for hours. Finally, by 2am, we were allowed to leave the airport with our baggage," the flyer said.

Samples of suspects sent to forensic lab

"AFTER the Flight Captain was given the permission to land, the flight landed around 9.30 pm. It was taken to an isolated bay," said a source.

The Bomb Disposal and Detection Squad, dog squad and the CISF carried out extensive checks. "All the passengers were double-checked and handwriting samples were collected from everyone. The luggage of all flyers were isolated and individual checks carried out," said a top source. The samples of suspected passengers have been sent to the Forensic Science Lab for examination.

The airline said in a statement: "Due to a hoax bomb threat on board, the disembarkation process of Indigo flight 6E 556 from Jaipur to Bengaluru was delayed."

The aircraft was taken to a remote bay. A stand-by-aircraft was arranged for the passengers to avoid further delay and inconvenience.

K'taka postal circle sells 3.5 lakh flags in 5 days

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Postal Circle has received a chunk of defective flags from Surat suppliers and these will be sent back after August 15, said Chief Postmaster General (CPMG) S Rajendra Kumar.

Briefing the media on Monday, Kumar said the circle was on course to sell at least 7.5 lakh flags before August 12. "The sale of flags via post offices commenced on August 3 and 3.5 lakh flags have been sold within five days. So, we are confident of easily selling the rest well before the deadline," he said.

Postal staffers take out a roadshow in Bengaluru on Monday

To a query on why flags made of khadi were not patronised, Kumar said that the Ministry of Textiles had dispatched the polyester flags. "There was a need to manufacture crores of flags in a short period for the country. Due to paucity of time, polyester material has been chosen. It would take at least a year to ready the flags in Khadi," he said. The CPMG reiterated that there was no intention to cut into the Khadi business.

Earlier in the day, a roadshow was undertaken in Rajaji Nagar by staff of different levels of the Bengaluru Postal Department, led by Postmaster General L K Dash. Flags were carried by staff with a banner urging the public to observe the Har Ghar Tiranga with India Post.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

09TH August: There's a series of astrological patterns this week, linking six planets. I am pretty certain that those of our leaders who use astrology are getting some strong advice from their astrologers to the effect that now is a very good time for planning new initiatives, hopefully for the benefit of all of us!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
It's a moment for shedding commitments rather than taking on extra. You should pay greater attention to making your existing relationships more satisfying - and see to it that a loved one is happy. Remember that other people are far more important than financial success.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
The Moon's role in your chart is increasingly practical, but you are also being given a good deal of emotional strength and resilience. Your celestial task today is to look after other people with great kindness, care and consideration, whether you want to or not!

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Mercury, your planetary ruler, plays a significant role in almost every important celestial aspect over the near future, even if indirectly. You may find that in one way or another, and probably without meaning to, you become the centre of attention.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You are still passing through an outstanding and memorable period, although it looks very much as if you may be taking your good luck for granted. It's amazing what you can find to grumble about when you try! Financial stress seems to be ever-present, but will pass soon.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You may enhance your freedom of action by taking responsibility for your own choices. Any adverse aspects between now and the end of the week will remind you that you must exert more control over your personal affairs. Deal with problems just as soon as you see them coming.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Awkward dilemmas refuse to go away! You'll be wondering whether you can adjust your own beliefs and fit in with other people's demands. But, then, should you even consider unusual offers - or just turn them down flat? You see, you might find that if you go ahead now, circumstances will have changed by the time you finish.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Stand back and take a cool look at some of your obligations. Many areas of your life must now be viewed in the cold light of day. You will have to examine details and issues that could encourage you to make long-overdue improvements in your personal affairs.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You're still wondering whether you've made a commitment too far. Although by nature you tend to give others the benefit of the doubt, this isn't because you think they're right. It's because you lack confidence in your own ideas. Be a little more determined this week.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Pluto is the planet responsible for some of the positive forecasts made for you over the last year. It is still bugging you, but if you would only accept that a shake-up in your opinions and attitudes was necessary, you'd soon rid yourself of any lingering blues.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
As a Capricorn you know how important material security is to your well-being. It's therefore welcome news that a financial matter completed this week should allay many of your current fears. If you're over-emotional early on, don't worry; by the afternoon you'll be much more level-headed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You're walking a tight-rope. Make the right moves and your success will be brilliant. Even now your destiny is being shaped by a strident solar alignment which is due to stir up the heavens before very much longer. The time has come to play for even higher stakes than in the past.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You're in a secretive mood today, keen to keep your feelings to yourself. There will be moments when you will be in a position to make snap decisions over career issues. By all means adopt a rash approach if you don't mind ending up isolated or alone. Take romantic promises with a pinch of salt.

Woman dentist, minor daughter found hanging

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A 36-year-old woman dentist and her 10-year-old daughter were found hanging at their residence in Banashankari. It is suspected that the mother killed her daughter before hanging herself, but the reason for the extreme step is yet to be ascertained.

The deceased have been identified as Shyma Muthappa and her daughter Aradhana, a Class-4 student. The family lived at Kavericnagar in Banashankari. Police said the incident took place on Saturday morning, when Shyma's husband, Dr Narayana Swamy, also a dentist, had gone to the clinic he runs in Hanumantha Nagar. At around 11 am, Swamy rushed home from the clinic as his wife was not answering his phone calls. As she failed open the door, he broke it open with the help of the apartment complex's security guard, to find his wife and daughter hanging in a room. The matter was reported to the police.

"Prima facie, it appears that the woman hanged her daughter before hanging herself. However, we are awaiting the post-mortem report to know the cause of death. No suicide note was found in the house. The husband is in a state of shock and we are yet to question him about the reasons that led to the incident. They were married for more than 12 years and it is suspected that some domestic row might have led the woman to take the extreme step," the police said.

Shyma's brother Sharath, who lives in Australia, filed a complaint on Monday suspecting that Shyma could have murdered her daughter. "We had taken up an unnatural death case earlier. Based on the post-mortem report, we will decide on registering an FIR," the police added.

Upa Lokayukta warns 3 for filing frivolous complaints

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

TO encourage only genuine complaints, the Karnataka Lokayukta will no longer tolerate false, frivolous or vexatious complaints that are not made in good faith. Raising suspicion over the modus operandi of some of the complainants, Upa Lokayukta Justice KN Phaneendra sought an explanation as to why action should not be initiated to prosecute them under Section 20 of the Karnataka Lokayukta Act, 1984.

TL Nagaraju, who claimed to be a youth awardee from Mandya district, filed a complaint against engineers of the Karnataka Urban Water Supply and Drainage Board, alleging that they misappropriated the revenue generated as water tax in Channapatna. But the allegations were not supported by documents.

Noting that the complaint appears to be aggrieved for disregarding a contract in favour of a person to supply water to Ramangara and Channapatna, Justice Phaneendra found that this is the third consecutive complaint filed by the same complainant, while the earlier ones were closed recently.

In another case, G Shanthappa, claiming to be social worker from Megalakottige in Chitradurga, filed a complaint against forest officers for alleged misappropriation of funds in raising saplings and substandard work in Chitradurga district under MGNREGA Scheme. But the allegations proved to be unfounded. When questioned by the Upa Lokayukta, the complainant admitted that the complaint was filed on the basis of false information furnished by some miscreants and said he was personally satisfied with the works undertaken by the officials and that no misappropriation was done.

Justice Phaneendra observed that it is evident that the complaint was filed with a malafide intention and there was no sufficient material to commence the investigation under Section 9 of the Karnataka Lokayukta Act. Meanwhile, Makanna of Ballari had filed a complaint against the Panchayat Development Officer of Balakundi village. When inquired, it was found that the allegations of misuse of funds were far from truth.

Appointment of Upa Lokayukta: HC issues notice to state govt

ENS @ Bengaluru

The Karnataka High Court on Monday issued notice to the Chief Secretary and Secretary of the Department of Personnel and Administrative Reforms on a public interest litigation filed by a city-based advocate, seeking directions to initiate the process of appointment of the Upa Lokayukta. The post has been lying vacant for more than 50 days.

Hearing the petition by advocate S Umapathi, a division bench of Acting Chief Justice Alok Aradhe and Justice S Vishwajith Shetty issued the notice. The Upa Lokayukta post has been vacant since June 14, 2022, when Upa Lokayukta Justice BS Patil was appointed the Lokayukta. At present, of two Upa Lokayukta posts, one is vacant, and the state government has been negligent in strengthening the institution and is attempting to stifle the functioning of the Lokayukta by failing to appoint the Upa Lokayukta in a timely manner, he alleged.

He further stated that he was constrained to approach the court as the state government's assurance to appoint the Upa Lokayukta remains unimplemented.

The petitioner submitted that in the past too, when the posts of Upa Lokayukta and Lokayukta were vacant for more than one year, he had to approach the high court, which directed the state to fill the Upa Lokayukta's post, by an order dated January 27, 2021. Similarly, on filing a petition before the high court, the appointment of the Lokayukta was expedited and Justice BS Patil was appointed on June 14, 2022, he pleaded.

Retired teacher duped of ₹3.45 lakh by hired driver

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 60-year-old retired teacher paid a heavy price for leaving her mobile phone in her car to have breakfast at a restaurant. She had hired a driver, Prakash, 31, for her car through an app. Prakash, who was in the car when she went out to eat, took her SIM card from her mobile phone and replaced it with a defunct SIM.

The accused made 46 transactions to the tune of Rs 3.45 lakh by downloading a few online payment apps using her SIM. The phone number was linked to her savings account. The accused purchased a two-wheeler and a mobile phone from the money. When the SIM was activated, she received messages of the bank withdrawals.

Prakash, who hails from Gunnanayakanahalli of Mandya district, has been arrested and his bank account with Rs 1.51akh cash has been frozen. "We had taken the service of the driver once through an app and we called him for the second time by directly reaching out to him. My mother did not have any UPI accounts or had shared any OTP with anybody," Harish S Itagi, son of the victim, said.

As a large number of people from rain-affected areas are staying in relief camps and houses of their friends or relatives houses, the State Government has decided to provide relief kits at their doorsteps. Zameer, Ashoka lock horns over Idgah Maidan

Debate rages over I-Day, Ganesha Chaturthi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

EVEN after ownership of the controversial Chamarajapet grounds, popularly known as Idgah Maidan in Bengaluru is settled, the controversy over its use is unlikely to end any time soon. Local Congress MLA Zameer Ahmed and Revenue Minister R Ashoka have locked horns over allowing Independence Day and Ganesha Chaturthi celebrations on the grounds.

While Ahmed said they will go ahead and hoist the tricolour on the grounds and there is no need to take permission for it, Ganesha festival will not be allowed. Ashoka, however, said permission from the Revenue department is required for all events, including offering namaz or hoisting the flag. He also said the government might consider allowing Ganesha celebrations here.

Two days after the BBMP declared that the 2.5-acre Chamarajpet Idgah Maidan belongs to the Revenue department, MLA Zameer Ahmed Khan said cutting across religions, people will join hands and hoist the tricolour at the maidan for the first time. On allowing Ganesha pandal, he said, "No Ganesha pandal here."

Ashoka told reporters on Monday that the grounds are surrounded by temples and a mosque. As per the 1964 document, the property belongs to the Revenue department, which will decide on allowing Ganesha Utsav, flag hoisting, prayers or namaz at the grounds. "We will verify and permit as per the law. There should not be any confusion. No one should make an attempt for supremacy. Anyone can give a memorandum to us, we will permit as per law, we will do as per the Constitution."

To a media question on Zameer Ahmed's announcement of hoisting the flag on the grounds, Ashoka said the government has not received any application so far. "There are two to three individuals and organisations who want to use this space. We cannot give permission to all, only one will be allowed. When there is controversy like this in usage of government land, and chances of law and order disturbance, permission is needed," he said.

CONG SAYS GOVT'S FLOOD RELIEF INSUFFICIENT

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CLOSE on the heels of Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai holding a meeting with deputy commissioners and district incharge ministers of rain affected areas on Saturday, Congress is slamming the government, saying the funds allocated for relief works are not adequate.

Bommai announced Rs 200 crore additional grants to 21 districts, besides advising the DCs to use the amount in their personal deposit accounts to take up the needed works.

"There is no shortage of funds to take up relief and rehabilitation works. Apart from Rs 200 crore, the DCs can also utilise Rs 657 crore available in their accounts to disburse the compensation," he said.

But KPCC working president Eshwar Khandre said that among the 21 districts that were identified for Rs 200 crore relief, Bidar and Kalaburagi in the Kalyana-Karnataka region were left out.

In a series of tweets, he alleged that the government is meting out a step-motherly treatment to the region, though farmers are in distress with their crops destroyed due to heavy rain.

Replying to him, Bommai clarified that the additional grants were allotted based on the amount available in the DCs' PD accounts. "As on Aug.2, there is Rs 20.45 Crore, Rs 42.07 Crore and Rs 25.14 Crore available with the Bidar, Kalaburagi and Yadgir DCs' accounts respectively," he tweeted. There is no favouritism in disbursal of funds and they are being released regularly based on the need, he added.

KPCC campaign committee chairman MB Patil too tweeted criticising the government, saying Vijayapura district has been let down by the government. "For the Vijayapura district, the government is dead and our district has become an orphan. What is the district in charge minister doing? Zero contribution even in terms of development! If the government is alive for the district, is there any answer to this," he tweeted.

Bommai again clarified saying there is Rs 28.5 crore available in the Vijayapura deputy commissioner's account which is more than that of any of the 21 districts that are part of the Rs 200 crore package. Evidently, Congress is making floods an issue ahead of the 2023 Assembly polls.

"The mismanagement of floods is also one of the issues we are going to raise," confirmed KPCC manifesto committee chairman Dr G Parameshwara. Congress is keenly watching the aid coming from the Centre after the state's proposal, which will be sent in a week after assessing the damage due to rain. "Last year, the Centre had not treated the state's request fairly, as compared to other neighbouring states. If it repeats again, we are going to make it an issue," a Congress leader said.

After Rahul, Congress banks on Priyanka factor

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI

THE Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) has invited Priyanka Gandhi Vadra to sound the poll bugle for the 2023 Assembly polls in the state.

Her brother and Congress MP Rahul Gandhi participated in the August 3 rally marking the 75th birthday of Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah in Davanagere.

It is learnt that KPCC president DK Shivakumar has invited Priyanka to take part in the 'Freedom Walk', which culminates in a rally at the National College Grounds in Basavanagudi, Bengaluru, on August 15.

The event is to mark the valedictory of the 'Swatantrata Amritotsava Padayatra' of Congress, which was under progress for a week across the state.

"We have invited both Rahul and Priyanka, but the latter is likely to take part. Whether she joins the walk from Krantivira Sangolli Rayanna Railway Station or attends the public rally around 4 pm is yet to be confirmed by the AICC," a Congress leader informed TNIE.

Priyanka had campaigned for her mother and Congress president Sonia Gandhi over two decades ago in 1999, when she had contested from Ballari for the 13th Lok Sabha. Sonia had then defeated former Union minister Sushma Swaraj. However, Sonia retained Amethi and resigned from Ballari.

Indira connection

Priyanka's visit to Karnataka is being keenly watched in political circles.

"A section of people wished Priyanka entered politics, as she resembles her grandmother Indira Gandhi. Her expected visit here will bring traction among a cross-section of people who wish to see Indira in her," claimed a Congress leader, adding that it may help the next Assembly polls with a swing of 2-3 per cent of votes in favour of the Grand Old Party.

In 1978, Indira Gandhi had won the bypolls held for the erstwhile Chikkamagaluru Lok Sabha constituency, which gave her a political rebirth of sorts.

Forum seeks relief to kin of Masood, Fazil

MANGALURU: Alleging that the government is indifferent towards the murders of B Masood and Mohammed Fazil in Dakshina Kannada, the Muslim Aikyata Vedike from Suratkal on Monday set a 10-day deadline for the government to provide a compensation of Rs 25 lakh each to the bereaved families. If not, Vedike members said they will take out a protest along with other organisations and secular forces. Umar Farooq Sakafi of Badriya Jumma Masjid, Krishnapura, addressing the media along with heads of several masjids in the region, accused the state government and Dakshina Kannada district administration of being discriminatory with regard to the serial murders. "A compensation of Rs 25 lakh was given to Praveen Nettaru's family, and the CM, ministers and MPs consoled them, but none visited the family of Masood, who stay just 5 km away. The same happened with Fazil's family," he alleged. He took exception to the government not handing over the murders of Masood and Fazil to the NIA like it did in Nettaru's case. ENS

The processions coming from Assembly segments will culminate near Kanteerava Indoor Stadium, he said.

He said the change may take place ahead of August 15, in the interest of BJP retaining power in the 2023 polls.

Siddu's men seek to start varsity gold medal

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

THE mega Siddaramotsava to celebrate the 75th birthday of Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah was just the beginning of a series of events planned by Congress to keep the momentum going in the runup to the 2023 polls. Now, many of Siddaramaiah's followers have begun the process to institute a gold medal in his name in the century-old Mysore University.

The medal -- Siddaramaiah-75 Amrutha Mahothsava Chinnada Padaka -- will be awarded to toppers in the five-year law course at the university.

Siddaramaiah, who himself is a law graduate, is an alumni of Mysore University.

District Congress Committee president BJ Vijaykumar said the DCC being the donor, it has presented a demand draft of Rs 1.05 lakh and submitted an application to the university registrar with an appeal to institute the medal honouring the lifetime achievement of the leader, who has come from an agriculture family, and completing 45 years in active politics.

The medal/prize/scholarship will be presented to the toppers in BA.LLB from the Mysore University Law School during the annual convocation.

Though university authorities have accepted the application, the Syndicate and Academic Council members have to give their final approval. Both the bodies have members, including sitting MLAs, nominated by the BJP government, and also from academic circles.

University Vice-Chancellor Prof C Hemantha Kumar said they have received a request to institute a medal after Siddaramaiah. The proposal will be tabled before the Syndicate and Academic Council, and the medal will be presented during the next convocation, he added.

Demand for Siddu to contest from Varuna gets louder

MYSURU: Congress Legislature Party leader and former CMSiddaramaiah should stop hunting for constituencies to contest the next Assembly election and should run from Varuna constituency, said KPCC working president Druvanarayan, at Tagadur near here on Monday. Taking part in the party-organised Azaadi ka Amruth Mahotsav to mark 75 years of Independence, many other Congressmen too insisted that Siddaramaiah contest from Varuna, which is now represented by his son Dr Yathindra, even as the father-son sat on the dais smiling. Druvanarayan said Varuna is lucky for Siddaramaiah as he went on to become the Chief Minister after winning from here. ENS

CONG, BJP CHART STRATEGY IN BATTLEGROUND BELAGAVI

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @ Belagavi

THE BJP and the Congress are eyeing a larger share of seats in the 18 Assembly segments of Belagavi in the 2023 polls, aware that the border district has always played a key role in the formation of state governments. Headed by KPCC working president Satish Jarkiholi, the Congress is building a stronger base in those Assembly seats held by the BJP. To scuttle Jarkiholi's political strategies that could jeopardise the chances of BJP candidates in several of the 13 seats it holds in Belagavi, the BJP leadership is working on a counter-strategy to target him. Former minister Umesh Katti and MLA Abhay Patil are being named in charge of Jarkiholi's Yamakanmardi constituency in an attempt to defeat him.

With 13 seats already in its kitty in Belagavi, the BJP is chalking out strategies to win most of the remaining five seats held by the Congress. To achieve its objective, the BJP leadership feels it is vital to tighten the noose around Jarkiholi who wields a huge following in most of the 18 Assembly segments. According to sources, the BJP is contemplating going all out in Yamakanmardi to defeat Jarkiholi in 2023, and is apparently trying to build pressure on him so that he confines himself to the said constituency.

Despite not coming to the Yamakanmardi constituency for campaigning during the last polls, Jarkiholi was able to pull off a victory, albeit by a slender margin of 3,000 votes, against his lesser-known BJP rival Maruti Ashtagi. Looking at its potential here, the BJP leadership has decided to strongly rally behind its candidate this time, leaving Jarkiholi in a vulnerable position.

On the other hand, Jarkiholi is confident of his fourth win in 2023 from Yamakanmardi, stating that his work would fetch him dividends. On the counter strategies planned by the BJP, Jarkiholi said the ruling party had been targeting him in Yamakanmardi for the last one year. "However, it is the job of respective political parties to strengthen themselves in various constituencies, and obviously, the BJP will work on it and the Congress also will do its part," said Jarkiholi.

Priyanka, Jarkiholi's daughter, is also seen as a potential candidate for the Congress in Yamakanmardi, but sources said he would not quit the constituency, and could make Priyanka contest the next polls. The BJP's attempts to defeat Jarkiholi may not materialise given his popularity in the constituency.

A long-drawn rivalry between the influential political families of Jarkiholis and Kattis in Belagavi will also have its impact on the elections. Each of them will also have to work out strategies to ensure that their rivalries would not play a spoilsport for them.

Moulvis, pujaris offer bagina prayers

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

WHILE Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and IT-BT Minister Dr Ashwath Narayan have spoken of the Uttar Pradesh model being implemented here to deal with riots and anti-social elements, Karnataka has offered its own model, one of prosperity and progress.

On Monday, moulvis joined Hindu priests in offering bagina prayers to Kannampalli tank in Chikkaballapur district which is brimming after many years because of copious rain in the region. Local MLA Krishna Reddy (JDS) and local residents offered prayers to the tank, which supplies water to a population of around 1.5 lakh in Chintamani, one of the driest regions in the state.

The water body was constructed by the British. As the population in the town exploded over the years, another tank is being dug at Bhaktharahalli-Arasikere to supplement the water needs of the town, which is the commercial hub of the district.

Reddy said, "I have always stated that a politician should not be partial to one's own community. Whenever bagina prayers are offered when a tank is full, it has been done with a spirit of unity and love towards all people." The event is significant, considering that JDS is making a strong secular pitch ahead of the Assembly polls. JDS deputy leader in the Assembly Bandeppa Kashempur said, "Karnataka has been at the forefront of development and the chief minister speaking of the UP model is an insult to our people. Will they bring the bulldozer model here? One of the greatest poets Kuvempu has spoken of Karnataka being a Shantiya Thota or the Garden of Peace. This unity prayer is a demonstration of that." Congress MLC BK Hariprasad said, "BJP doesn't believe in development. This is a regressive government. They have failed with the Gujarat model and now they are talking of the UP model."

Monday's prayers were in stark contrast to the BJP-ruled Assam, where Muslims are being accused of flood jihad.

Hosapete will now have India's tallest flagpole

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR
@ Hosapete

THIS is the height of patriotism. The country's tallest flagpole will be unveiled and the national flag will be hoisted this Independence Day at Hosapete, the headquarters of new district Vijayanagara.

The construction of the flagpole is on and when it is finally ready, it will be 123 metre tall. The second tallest flagpole in the country too is located in the state, at Kote Kere in Belagavi standing at 110 metre. The Hosapete flagpole project is the brainchild of local MLA and Tourism Minister Anand Singh.

The district tourism department has released Rs 6 crore for the project, while private sponsors have taken up the work of installing the flagpole at Puneeth Rajkumar Stadium. A Maharashtra-based company is working on the installation of the flagpole, on which a Tricolour of 120x80 feet dimension will be unfurled.

"The new flagpole will be a major tourist attraction in the district, apart from Hampi and Tungabhadra reservoir. The district already receives tourists from all over the world. The flagpole can be seen from anywhere in Hosapete and surroundings," said a member of the flagpole construction committee.

Local residents are demanding that Anand Singh inaugurate the flagpole on August 15. But as he is the district in-charge minister of Koppal, he will hoist the flag at the Koppal stadium. Vijayanagara district in-charge minister Shashikala Jolle will attend the Independence Day function at Hosapete. Sources said that talks are going on at the government level whether Singh should be allowed to do the honours as he is instrumental in ideating the project.

BJP to form govt in Odisha in '24, claims Amit Shah

'Party to contest in state under PM's leadership'

Union Home Minister Amit Shah addresses a gathering in Bhubaneswar

DAYS after announcing that the BJP will fight the 2024 general elections under the leadership of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Monday claimed that his party will form the next government in Odisha.

Speaking at an event organised by the party for launching the book 'Modi@20: Dreams Meet Delivery' here, Shah said the BJP which won only two seats in the 1984 Lok Sabha election and subsequently emerged as the single largest party in the Lower House was tagged by its opponents as a 'Hindi heartland' party.

The political landscape of the country has changed after Modi became Prime Minister winning majority seats. While the entire North-east is under BJP rule, the saffron party is in government in 19 states including Karnataka and Maharashtra. "I am confident that the BJP under the leadership of Modi will win the 2024 election with two-thirds majority and no one can stop it. We are going to form the next government in Odisha also," he asserted. Reminiscing Modi's 30 years journey as an RSS pracharak and 20 years as Chief Minister and Prime Minister, Shah said his greatest contribution to Indian democracy is to have vanquished the three evils - dynastic politics, politics of appeasement and corruption. Citing the example of Uttar Pradesh where "Parivarwad" was deeply entrenched, the Union Home Minister said that the dynastic politics is withering away as people have rejected the business of family politics.

He said the credit goes to Modi who not only demolished the three evils which were devouring the core of democracy but also changed it to "politics of performance".

NEARLY two years after giving up the idea of launching a political party, actor Rajinikanth called on Governor RN Ravi at Raj Bhavan on Monday and discussed several matters, including politics. Though he declined to divulge any more detail about his political discussions, he ruled out having any fresh intention of entering politics.

"It's a courtesy call. We spoke for about 25-30 minutes. Most of the time, the Governor was in north India. He loves Tamils and holds them in high regard for their hardworking and honest nature. The spirituality here has attracted him the most. The Governor said he was ready to work hard for Tamil Nadu, " Rajinikanth told reporters at the Raj Bhavan.

Asked whether he discussed politics with the Governor, he said, "Yes, we discussed politics. But, I can't share the details with you now." He refused to comment on questions about the 2024 Lok Sabha election and the GST hike.

After giving much hope to his fans about his political entry, he, on December 29, 2020, shattered their expectations by announcing that he was not entering politics due to health reasons.

Mullaperiyar, Idukki water release triggers panic, Ernakulam on alert

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE@
Idukki/ Kochi

THOUGH rain has subsided in coastal plains and midland the high ranges of Idukki and Wayanad are receiving copious rains and the dams are witnessing copious inflow, which has forced the KSEB and Irrigation department to release water from major dams. Panic gripped Vandiperiyar and Vallakadavu areas located downstream Mullaperiyar dam as Tamil Nadu started releasing 7354 cusecs of water from 5 pm on Monday. Subsequently, KSEB raised the spill from Idukki dam to 300 cumecs.

The situation remained grim in Pampa basin as Kakki and Pampa reservoirs started releasing water on Monday. The Idamalayar dam in Ernakulam district will start releasing water on Tuesday. The Banasurasagar in Wayanad also opened two spillway shutters releasing 17 cumecs of water.

With Idukki dam receiving an inflow of 7.37 MCM per 3 hour, the authorities are planning to raise the outflow to 500 cumecs from Tuesday morning.

As the water level in Idamalayar dam reached 83.57 percentage of the storage capacity, the KSEB has decided to open the spillway shutters at 10 am on Tuesday. Idamalayar will be releasing 50 to 100 cumecs of water which will flow to Bhoothathankettu dam where all the 15 shutters are kept open. The water release from Idukki and Idamalayar will be regulated after monitoring the water level in Periyar at Aluva. The water level in Periyar was 1.735 m at 6 pm on Monday, way below the danger level of 3.76 m.

Meanwhile, a 21 member team of National Disaster Response Force (NDRF) arrived in Ernakulam on Monday afternoon. District collector Renu Raj held discussions with NDRF, police and fire and rescue authorities and decided to take precautionary measures.

The police and fire and rescue personnel will be patrolling the banks of Periyar from Neriamangalam to Aluva to monitor the situation.

Cong cries foul as two party leaders booked for Siddaramotsava flexes

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike's action of removing flex and banners has landed it in rough weather as the Congress has accused the civic body of targeting only opposition party leaders on the instruction of the government.

The allegations came after two Congress leaders – Ramesh Babu T S and Jayabala -- were booked by the Vidhana Soudha police following a complaint from Assistant Revenue Officer B V Veena for putting flexes in and around Vidhana Soudha during Siddaramotsava.

Veena claimed that instructions were given to book cases for flexes put up by supporters of B Z Zameer Ahmed Khan on August 1. The palike was also under attack for not acting against leaders and VIPs for violation of the HC order on illegal flexes. Recently, BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said that 28 FIRs were registered with regard to illegal flexes and banners.

Congress leaders alleged that cases were booked against the duo as revenge for damaging CT Ravi's poster last month.

Party general secretary (media and communications) Lavanya Ballal said, "Putting up flexes and banners is wrong. The party respects the rule and it is aware that the law is the same for all. But this does not apply for BJP."

JDS Bengaluru city president R Prakash lashed out at both the national parties, calling it a cheap publicity stunt. "The two national parties splurge money on illegal flexes and cheap publicity and are known for violation of the BBMP Act and the High Court verdict on illegal flexes," he said.

PAPER CHALLENGES VALIDITY OF BIG BANG MODEL: PROF

"THIS was the sequel to our previous paper already published in Astronomy and Astrophysics Journal challenging the Big Bang Hypothesis," Roy told this newspaper. "In this paper we analyzed the redshift data from galaxy-quasar pair and confirmed the periodicity of redshifts, which counters the Big Bang theory. This was first observed by the American astronomer Prof Halton Arp in the sixties in the 20th century. He had observed the physical association of this type of galaxy-quasar pair," said the Indian scientist.

According to the Big Bang Hypothesis quasars are considered as the objects situated at the farthest distances than galaxies. "But according to Arp, if in the galaxy-quasar pair the galaxy is physically associated with quasar, then the galaxy and quasar are situated almost at the same distance. This observation contradicts the tenets of the expanding model (like the Big Bang model)," said Roy.

"Essentially it raises the question whether redshift has an alternate explanation to Doppler mechanism, according to which the shift of the frequency (towards longer wavelength called redshift or towards lower wavelength called blue shift) occurs due the relative motion of the observer and the source. The expansion of the universe is explained using essentially the Doppler mechanism. However, the discovery of Emil Wolf from University of Rochester, USA clearly establishes that this shift of frequency of light may occur even in the absence of relative motion of the observer and the source," said Roy.

"In the present paper we have shown that the redshift of the galaxy-quasar pair as observed by Arp and other astronomers is quantised and it challenges the validity of expanding or the Big Bang model using our methodology for the data analysis. We sent this paper to various leading international journals for publication but it was rejected without any critical review. Then we tried to publish it in an archive of Cornell University. The archive support team sent us a peculiar reasoning rejecting publication," said Roy.

After much persuasion, they accepted the paper with a caveat that we must get it published somewhere if we want to have future submissions accepted on arXiv, he added. "This sort of censorship of scientific research is unfair and unfortunate," said Roy.

EXPRESSING his strong displeasure over the government "ruling through Ordinances", Governor Arif Mohammed Khan refused to give immediate assent for the re-promulgation of 11 Ordinances, that were set to lapse on Monday. The Governor said he cannot endorse the Ordinances without applying his mind on the matter and getting a proper explanation from the government.

Speaking to reporters in Delhi, the Governor also decried the government's practice of re-promulgating Ordinances without getting them ratified by the state legislature. "Ruling through Ordinance is not something that is desirable in a democracy. I will apply my mind and decide whether I will sign or not," Khan said

Clear parked vehicles on ORR, BBMP told

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner, Tushar Girinath on Monday said instructions have been given to officials concerned on clearing parked vehicles on Outer Ring Road (ORR) to ease traffic movement.

Girinath said: "Officials have been told not to give permission for vehicles to park on service roads and put 'no parking' sign boards."

The meeting, called by Home Secretary Rajneesh Goel, was held to discuss traffic control measures and fixing potholes which have increased due to heavy rain. City police commissioner, BWSSB chief and Bescom managing director were present.

Girinath directed the road infrastructure chief engineer to instruct officials to put wet mix and cover the potholes for the time being. He also told the officials to clear footpath encroachments. Girinath directed the officials to clear hawkers, materials put by the other civic agencies on vacant lands and penalise people who have left construction debris on footpaths and roads.

'Cold water throwing up groper fish'

"THE sea is churning and the fish deep down get thrown up on the shore due to rough seas. In this phenomenon, the warm water goes down and cold water comes up," he explained.

"The other possibility is that these fish might be part of a larger group, which might have been chased by dolphins," he elaborated.

Groper fish live amid rocks and coral reefs. The fish washed ashore are the young ones, according to Professor Haragi.

"They grow up to between 3 kg and to 20 kg in weight and are large in size. They sell at a cost of Rs 300 to Rs 400 per kg and cost more than Rs 600 per kg during off-season," he added.

Usually it is the sardines or some other common variety of fish which end up on the sea shore. This is the first time that Gropers have been washed ashore.

NITI AAYOG MEETING SHOWS DISUNITY OF CENTRE AND STATES

The NITI Aayog's 7th general council meeting has raised more questions than answers. Two chief ministers—K Chandrashekar Rao of Telangana and Nitish Kumar of Bihar—gave it a miss deliberately. The former did so ostensibly in protest against the Centre's attitude and even called the Niti Aayog its Barmy Army. His real reason though is the BJP's renewed push in Telangana to displace him. Nitish cited Covid but it is obvious he too is peeved with the BJP for seeking to topple him despite being an ally.

The other non-BJP CMs, however, attended the meeting, and raised a plethora of issues. Now, there are two aspects here. One is political and the other is governance. Niti Aayog, which replaced the socialist era's Planning Commission, is in reality a think tank and an advisory body. Its role in building bridges between the Centre and states is minimal, going by what we have seen in the last seven years. To expect it to resolve Centre-state disputes is asking for too much which begs the question as to what the states could do to get their genuine grievances addressed. For instance, Kerala's Pinarayi Vijayan, West Bengal's Mamata Banerjee, Chhattisgarh's Bhupesh Baghel and several other CMs raised pressing matters as did KCR in his fiery presser in Hyderabad. The cash-strapped states need extension of GST compensation, relaxation on borrowing limits, flexibility in NEP implementation and execution of Centrally-sponsored schemes among many others.

Though the inter-state council was set up in 1990 on the recommendation of the Sarkaria Commission, over a period of time, its meetings have become a ritual. KCR hit the nail on the head when he said the Planning Commission had always held out hope. If the Centre's claims of Team India are to carry weight, there needs to be an institutional mechanism to address the states' problems. Odisha Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik suggested that the Niti Aayog play the role of an ombudsman. We need to have a debate on this. In the absence of any such mechanism, Rajneeti is taking precedence over Rashtra Neeti, the classic examples being Bihar and Telangana. The meeting brought to the fore the lack of unity. Neither the Centre and states nor the opposition parties are on the same page.

RICH MEDAL HAUL, BUT SHIFT FOCUS TO PARIS

There were surprises, euphoria and heartbreak. Like always, this Commonwealth Games too saw stories of human tenacity, endurance and fortitude. There were tears of joy and anguish. There were untold stories of struggles of athletes from the hinterland. For India, the last few days have been invigorating. In athletics, one of the toughest events at the Commonwealth Games, there was a sudden late burst. Avinash Sable broke the indomitable Kenyan bastion in 3000m steeplechase for the first time since 1994. India finished one-two in the men's triple jump, while M Sreeshankar crafted a piece of history for himself too.

As expected, India dominated wrestling and weightlifting, while in boxing and badminton, they were flying. In a game with colonial overtures and lawn bowls, India created history. Yet in terms of medals it could not match Gold Coast but had a creditable show. Shooting that usually fetches about 20–25% of medals, was not there. In the next edition, wrestling doesn't figure too. India has won six gold, one silver and five bronze this time. That means in 2026, the tally could be thinner by 12 medals.

In certain sports, India is dominant. In others like cycling, swimming, gymnastics, where there are multiple medals, we are nowhere close to the world leaders. Athletics this time was an exception. We are improving in a number of sports in the world, but perhaps, it's time we start concentrating on the sports with multiple medals if we have to do well at the Olympics. We should pay more attention to tougher competitions like the world championships and other invitational events. At the Commonwealth Games, we have achieved fourth place. But teams like Australia and England are way ahead of us and are among the top performers at the Olympics in disciplines like athletics, cycling, swimming and gymnastics too. If we do well in these sports, we will never worry about fewer medals if certain disciplines are left out. The National Sports Federations and the Sports Authority of India (SAI) had planned it well so far, but shouldn't rest on their laurels. Focus should now be on the 2024 Paris Olympics.

Despite its power and preponderance, the US lost credibility in the Middle East; it is not a dependable friend for the Arabs, especially the Gulf monarchies

BIDEN'S ITERATION & USA'S WEAKNESS IN MIDDLE EAST

SOUMYADIP SINHA

P R KUMARASWAMY
Professor at JNU. Teaches contemporary Middle East there

"Between friends, frequent reproofs make the friendship distant," says the venerable Confucius. This is appropriate to describe the American policy toward the Middle East under President Joe Biden. Speaking to the leaders of the Gulf Arab countries in Jeddah last month, the American President declared: "We will not walk away and leave a vacuum to be filled by China, Russia or Iran." While the statement might sound reassuring, one must consider the reasons. Why say the obvious? The credibility gap is neither recent nor sudden.

The September 11 attacks severely upset the American strategic worldview. The Bush administration's 'War on Terror' was a kneejerk reaction; in terms of the targets and strategy, Afghanistan and Iraq proved worse than Vietnam. True, the US had something to show in Iraq; transition to democracy, an inclusive constitution, greater rights and political space for Kurds and other minorities, and political culture of leadership transition through ballots and not bullets. For example, the parliamentary elections were held last October, and more than ten months later, Iraqi leaders are still struggling to form a new government. These are remarkable achievements.

However, the costly, ill-conceived and politicised 'War on Terror' brought down the American preponderance. Only a few months before the September 11 attacks, many were basking in the rise of the American century and 'unipolar' world. Untangling the costly military adventures in Iraq and Afghanistan became the priority of the post-Bush administration. In the process, President Barack Obama started the decline of the American preponderance in the Middle East, a position it enjoyed since the late 1960s when Britain left the region.

For all practical purposes, the US has been a Gulf power, shored by strategic partnership and military presence. The belligerent policies of the bigger powers vis-à-vis their neighbours (Iran and Iraq), insecurity of the Arab regimes (Kuwait and Saudi Arabia), and the traditional pro-western orientation of ruling regimes (Bahrain and Oman) ensured and consolidated the American presence in the Gulf. These were further cemented by the bipartisan American commitments to the security and well-being of Israel.

However, for the past two decades, the American policies in the Middle East, especially the energy-rich Gulf, have been in shambles. The pivot to Asia—later Indo-Pacific—made the Middle East less attractive. As the popular protests were spreading in the Arab world, the Obama administration took time to respond. Still, when it did, it disappointed both the protesting masses and the beleaguered Arab rulers. The belated American response disappointed the former, and the latter felt let down despite their prolonged support for and service to American interests. Hosni Mubarak became a new addition to the list of 'friends' abandoned by Washington in the hour of their need.

This was in contrast to the Russian support for Bashar al-Assad of Syria. Despite its power and preponderance, the US lost credibility in the Middle East; Washington is not a dependable friend for the Arabs, especially the Gulf monarchies.

> Growing American sanctions and hostilities are bringing Iran, China and Russia closer than before. While these countries have been cooperating for some time, the Biden administration has provided a strategic purpose to their policies. These countries are moving away from petrodollars and trading oil in non-US currencies towards weakening the American stronghold over their economy

President Biden added new lows. Growing American sanctions and hostilities are bringing Iran, China and Russia closer than before. While these countries have been cooperating for some time, the Biden administration has provided a strategic purpose to their policies.

These countries are moving away from petrodollars and trading oil in non-US currencies towards weakening the American stronghold over their economy. For some time, China has been using barter trade both to weaken the US factor and increase its leverage vis-à-vis Iran. Thus, the effectiveness of American sanctions vis-à-vis these three countries will be less effective.

The Ukraine crisis also undermined the Israeli-Russia relations manifested through various unfriendly public statements by Russian leaders and the fears over the future of the Jewish Agency office in Moscow. In addition, growing tension between the two would limit Israeli military operations against Iranian groups and Hezbollah in Syria. The crisis also resulted in Moscow, a traditional arms supplier, becoming the recipient of Iranian drones, a sign of Russian vulnerability and technological expertise.

Under President Putin, Russia has been engaging with conflicting players in the region; Israel and Palestinians; Fatah and Hamas; Syria and Türkiye; Iran and Saudi Arabia; and Egypt and Türkiye. Though the political outcomes of these engagements were limited, the weakening of American influence has resulted in several regional countries reacting favourably to Russian overtures. The survival of the Assad regime was a major incentive for them to view Moscow favourably. Until now, President Putin lacked an overarching strategy to capitalise on these engagements, but President Biden's policy on Ukraine galvanised Moscow to strategise its relations with the Middle East.

President Biden broke the ice through his belated engagements with Crown Prince Mohammed bin-Salman during his recent Middle Eastern visit, but resuming the heydays of the pre-Khashoggi bonhomie with Riyadh will be arduous. While Russia, China and Iran may not fill the 'vacuum', they will severely limit the US from regaining its hegemony in the Gulf.

METHODS TO REDUCE ATTRITION

ASHOKE K MAITRA
Founder, Sri Ramakrishna International Institute of Management

Retaining good talent has become a big issue for many companies. Yet, there are global companies with an attrition of less than 4% for many years.

At the invitation of a big IT company and an insurance company which were experiencing high attrition, we undertook research across India and other geographies to decipher the reason for so many employees wanting to leave and even interviewed the ones who left.

The first finding was on the type of behaviour demonstrated by leaders towards their team members. Global research claims 81% of employees leave companies because of a bad boss. Gallup's research portrays that world over, 62% of employees are disengaged in companies. Our research also demonstrated that the Departmental Head and the immediate reporting officer played a vital role in the employees' well-being.

We found that transformational leaders get more respect, and see higher productivity, motivation, commitment and less attrition.

On the other hand, transactional leaders who just extracted work and showed little concern, caring, love, etc., ended up witnessing the worst performance. The simple truth is that human beings have emotions and act best when they are loved, cared for and treated with respect and dignity.

A large Indian group once ran a training programme called 'R3' to train all leaders to demonstrate respect, regard and reward their team members. It had excellent results in terms of improvement of performance. James McGregor Burns spoke about how transformational leaders enable team members to grow in terms of maturity, wisdom, learning, etc. Such a leader also provides on-the-job training.

In addition, a transformational leader gives clear smart goals, provides informal rewards to team members for achievement of goals, offers challenging assignments, delegates, provides training and inspires people to succeed. They find the team member doing something right rather than doing something wrong. They offer a lot of affection, care and love to their team members. They are also continuously learning and encouraging their team members to learn so that they can prosper in their respective careers.

Let me illustrate this with an example. A large life insurance company and an IT company which were receiving complaints about the boss group asked us to provide a reasonable solution. Based on seminal research of Harvard Business School and James McGregor Burns, we conducted Transformational Leadership and Effective People Management Workshops for ten days in intervals of one month. During the intervals, we gave them projects to implement what they were taught so far. Our evaluation was done immediately. After three months, we demonstrated that the leaders who underwent our training in Transformational Leadership and Effective People Management exponentially improved, found new respect among their team members and enjoyed their work more. In the months that followed, fewer team members left the company.

> Transformational leaders get more respect, and see higher productivity, motivation, commitment and less attrition.... transactional leaders who just extracted work and showed little concern, caring, love, etc., ended up witnessing the worst performance. The simple truth is that human beings have emotions and act best when they are loved, cared for and treated with respect and dignity

The second area in our research which stuck out like a sore thumb was the area of Performance Management. In 87% of the cases, the employees felt the Performance Appraisal was unscientific, and that the standardisation of performance ratings was not done. As a result, those bosses who gave liberal ratings to their team members benefited when the performance bonus was distributed. Most of them informed us that they did not receive constructive feedback. No training need analysis was done either. They felt the PA was just an annual ritual.

When we analysed the Performance Appraisal Forms, we found that more than 66% of the appraisal forms did not have the training need analysis column filled up by the appraiser. No career plan was suggested. Performance appraisal is the mother module of all HR systems. Every employee fundamentally comes to an organisation to perform and expects fair appraisals, rewards, and recognition.

The third area of concern is compensation and benefits. Global research demonstrates that high potential employees are most likely to be retained if the salary is in the 65th to 75th percentile of the market. Companies need to analyse whether they are in that range. Those companies whose salaries are not in this range find it difficult to retain employees. Our research data found that compensation plays an important role in retention, as inflation is rising all over the world and everyone is becoming relatively poorer.

The fourth area is culture. Research shows that companies governed largely by good values, human resource policies, systems, and SOPs are likely to have a fairer and more equitable culture. Companies in which power is concentrated in the hands of two or three people, such as promoters, are less likely to have an equitable culture.

The fifth area is employee engagement. Companies that engage people in the company's growth and seek ideas are likely to see higher retention of people. Employees like to contribute to organisation development and feel worthy. Involvement of employees to generate ideas and reward them proves better than hiring costly consultants.

There were more findings. However, I have highlighted the main areas of concern which companies can focus on to improve retention.

Village embraces progress

Apropos of Panchayat sheds superstition, lets woman till land (August 8). It is good that the villagers and Panchayat members let go of their archaic beliefs and let Manju Oran till the land. Such superstitions do not hold weight in today's era. It bothers me to think that there are many more Manjus out there who are fighting for their independence to pursue what they wish to.

The 4–1 win

Congratulations to Team India for their amazing victory over West Indies—with a 4–1 margin and win by 88 runs, India is back on track. Our players displayed amazing bowling and fielding skills. The West Indies really did not stand a chance! We are incredibly proud of the Indian cricket team.

Kudos to Kalaiselvi

This is with reference to TN's Kalaiselvi first woman to head CSIR (August 8). By becoming the first woman director general of the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR), Nallathamby Kalaiselvi has not only proved her mettle but shown the world what equal rights can really result in. Her achievement motivates many other women to break their shackles and glass ceilings to catapult into success.

Pranav makes us proud

Kudos to young V Pranav for becoming India's new and 75th Grandmaster. It is a matter of great pride and rejoicing that India got its 75th GM when the country is all set to celebrate its 75th Independence Day. Can there be a better occasion for this blissful concomitance? In fact, it is a double delight for Indian chess, as the five-time World Champion and the legendary Viswanathan Anand has been elected as the deputy president of the International Chess Federation. No doubt, India is becoming a king in the game of kings!

Kanmani's goal

This is with reference to 'Fest of Happiness' draws huge attention of children (August 8). Organised by the State Commission for Protection of Child Rights for children in child care institutions, the fest was brought to life by Kanmani. She showed that if one has a strong desire, will and determination to achieve a goal, it will come true. Sure enough, her artwork is testimony, making her an inspiration for children.

Artist bringing change

It is so awe-inspiring how Kanmani used her sheer perseverance and dedication to create artwork with her legs. And I am really happy that the State Commission for Protection of Child Rights organised such a fest. It is an important social change that inspires children.

Outgoing RS Chairman M Venkaiah Naidu during his farewell in the House | PTI

THE Rajya Sabha Monday bid an emotional farewell to Chairman M. Venkaiah Naidu, remembering the innovative initiatives taken by him, although some Opposition parties used the occasion to take a swipe at Prime Minister Narendra Modi and the atmosphere in the House under the current government.

Members cutting across party lines praised Naidu's role as the presiding officer of the Upper House, and recollected how he encouraged them to speak in their native languages.

Hailing Naidu's wit and one-liners, the Prime Minister praised his five-year term as Vice-President and Rajya Sabha Chairman, saying the productivity of the House increased 70 per cent under him and he had set high standards for his successor.

"He was of the opinion that disruptions of proceedings, beyond a point, were contempt of the House. The Rajya Sabha can pass, reject, amend or return a bill, but parliamentary democracy doesn't allow blocking them," he said.

Remembering his 30-year long association with Naidu, Leader of Opposition in the RS Mallikarjun Kharge said the process of assessment of House rules started by him needed to be taken forward. "We don't know what kind of environment there will be after you. You have worked under all kinds of pressure," he said, reading out a few couplets in Hindi.

Kharge's remark came as Naidu's successor Jagdeep Dhankhar had a turbulent relationship with the Trinamool Congress government as the West Bengal Governor.

Taking a swipe at the PM, Trinamool MP Derek O'Brien said Naidu would have tried hard to get him to perhaps answer one question in his full five-year tenure but that did not happen.

He also pointed out that day the Upper House passed the three farm bills, Naidu was not in the Chair. "Maybe, someday you will answer that in your autobiography," O'Brien quipped.

In another dig, the TMC MP said Naidu made an intervention regarding phone-tapping in 2013, but there was no discussion on Pegasus in the House during his tenure despite several requests from the Opposition.

"The productivity of the House was raised (by the PM), but there is another side. Parliament has become a deep dark chamber. Why only 1 out of 10 bills are going to committee from the previous 5-6?" he asked.

DMK's Tiruchy Siva talked about the interventions made by Naidu to end the British-era practices — using words like faithfully while submitting notices and saying 'beg' to lay on table papers. "You upheld the dignity and decorum of the members and House," he said.

Never aspired to be Prez

Naidu, on his party, said he never aspired to be President and will not turn into a "dissident" but will continue to remain connected with the people. The outgoing RS Chairman, who has always taken a tough stand against frequent stalling of proceedings, told the Elders that people expected Parliament "to discuss, debate and not disrupt".

He appealed to members to observe "decency, dignity and decorum" to maintain the respect of the House.

The outgoing chairman also said the government, despite having a majority, should give respect to the Opposition. "Let the Opposition have its say, then the government will have its way because it has the majority....This is my advice," Naidu said.

NOT SATISFIED WITH JPC RESPONSE ON DATA BILL: JUSTICE SRIKRISHNA

LAST week, the Union government withdrew the Personal Data Protection Bill 2019, which has been in the woods for five years. The Bill had undergone intense scrutiny by a Joint Parliamentary Committee (JPC) that proposed 81 amendments and 12 recommendations to the Bill. After the withdrawal of the Bill, Telecom Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw promised a new comprehensive Bill for public consultation.

Supreme Court judge Justice B.N. Srikrishna headed the committee that prepared the first draft of the Personal Data Protection Bill in 2018. In an interview to Preetha Nair, he says the way forward is to have a general law enacted by Parliament strictly laying down the objectives for abridging the fundamental right of privacy laid down in the Puttaswamy judgment. Excerpts:

Do you welcome the withdrawal of the Personal Data Protection Bill 2019? If so, what were your concerns about the Bill?
Yes, it is welcomed. I have already publicly criticized the 2019 Bill and its JPVC modification as going against the law laid down in Puttaswamy judgment and that we would become an Orwellian State with Big Brother snooping on us freely. It would have been likely declared unconstitutional as infringing the Fundamental Right to Privacy under Article 21.

You have pointed out that the Bill diverged from your draft bill 2018. How much has the 2019 Bill changed from your committee recommendations?
It is like chalk and cheese. It is a basic tenet of the Constitutional law that there can be no abridgement of a fundamental right except by a valid Act of legislature. The 2019 Bill allowed that to happen by a mere self-serving declaration of the executive.

There has been strong criticism over exempting government agencies from the Act on the grounds of 'public order.'

The criticism was fully justified. There must be some guidelines indicated by a parliamentary enactment as to its content or else our personal data will be acquired by the mere ipse dixit of a vague declaration by the interested executive. The doctrine of proportionality also requires that there must be justification for acquiring personal data without the consent of the data principal and that there was no better way of meeting the objective to be declared by the legislature for doing so. The principle is that one does not swat a fly by using a sledgehammer.

Big tech companies have opposed the Bill for its provision of 'mandatory data localization'. What is your view?
This fear was exaggerated. If there is a constitutionally valid legislation that authorizes the executive to acquire personal data for a valid reason and if that data is sitting on a server out of the country, the local manager would throw up his hands, as it would be beyond his reach. However, to urgently validate the reason for collecting the required data, the government would have to deal with the foreign government by reaching out under the tardy process of Mutual Legal Assistance Treaty, which usually takes about two years to produce results. As a compromise, the committee recommended that even if all such data was held abroad, a live copy should be maintained within India so that urgent access to such required data, when needed, can be had within India. The lobbying against it was powerful enough for the government to buckle down.

Verbatim

A lot of effort went into extensive public consultations for the 2018 draft. How imperative is it to have consultation?
The law is intended to be people-centric and for their benefit. Parliament in theory intends to debate the pros and cons of all laws before passing them, after taking into consideration all views against the Bill. Since Parliament has no time for such meticulous details, a special committee was formed to go into all consultations with stakeholders. That should be a must whenever such new legislation is intended to be passed by Parliament.

Are you satisfied with JPC recommendations?
Not at all. If the 2019 Bill were to be passed, even with the 84 amendments suggested by the JPC, the basic flaws would remain. Further, the Data Protection Authority would be a captive of the government instead of being an independent body comprising experts and professionals.

You have also objected to the JPC recommendation of having a single law for personal and non-personal datasets. How damaging will it be for privacy concerns?
It would be damaging both ways. First, it is only personal data privacy that is declared to be a fundamental right. No such sanctity is attached to Non Personal Data (NPD). While the JPC recommendation did not improve upon the protection of personal data privacy rights, it made the situation complex by introducing the NPD.

IT Minister Aswini Vaishnaw has promised a new draft in tune with principles of privacy. How would you envisage the new Bill?
The best way forward is to have a general law enacted by Parliament strictly laying down the objectives for abridging the fundamental right of privacy by following the triple Constitutional parameters laid down in the Puttaswamy judgement. It is an exercise of balancing three interests. First, fundamental rights of the people; second, the requirements of national security and finally the needs of trade and business so as to improve the economy. In my view, primary importance should be given to the first, then the second and then the third objective. That is the least that can be done in a country wedded to the principle of social justice.

CRACKS IN BIHAR ALLIANCE

Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar has had an uneasy equation with the BJP right from the time their parties formed a government together in the state on November 16, 2020. With his party, JD-U, restricted to 43 seats in the assembly election, Nitish reluctantly accepted the post of CM. But the ties were strained from Day One as JD-U felt the party's prospects were dampened on many seats because Lok Janshakti Party (Ram Vilas) president Chirag Paswan fielded candidates against the party at the behest of the BJP. The fissures deepened as BJP gradually started pursuing its Hindutva agenda in Bihar, denting Nitish's secular credentials. The latest friction point between the two allies has emerged over RCP Singh, who Nitish feared could be used to engineer a split in the JD-U. Ramashankar takes a look at the major friction points between the allies in the past nearly two years:

CASTE-BASED CENSUS

JD-U national executive passed a resolution in favour of caste based Census on July 31, 2021. Weeks later, on August 23, Nitish Kumar led a cross-party delegation to meet PM Narendra Modi to press for the same. Ally BJP had been openly against any such exercise. The BJP state unit later backed the demand reluctantly, only after Nitish started cozying up to RJD leader Tejashwi Yadav

NITISH-SPEAKER SPAT

CM Nitish Kumar and Assembly Speaker Vijay Kumar Sinha had a spat over running of the House on March 14. It started after Nitish, who also holds the home portfolio, objected to the Speaker allowing to raise the issue of rising crime graph in his assembly constituency

SCHOOL HOLIDAY

BJP leaders raised objections over weekly holiday declared on Friday, instead of Sunday, in Urdu schools located in Muslim dominated areas in the state, but JD-U claimed the practice was being followed for long.

POPULATION CONTROL

BJP leaders, especially firebrand Union minister Giriraj Singh, have been demanding a population control policy in the state on the pattern of Uttar Pradesh. On the other hand, Nitish holds the view that there was no need for such a law and claims that Bihar's fertility rate has come down after improvement in female literacy

Pasmanda Muslims to spiritual heads, BJP walks the extra mile

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

IN a major outreach to the Muslim community, the BJP on Friday held a meeting of several Pasmanda (backward) leaders in the capital.

The meeting 'Pasmanda Muslim Sneh Samman Samroh' was in accordance with Prime Minister Narendra Modi's call for his party cadres to reach out to the deprived sections among the minority communities, such as Pasmanda Muslims.

The effort was clearly to highlight Uttar Pradesh, which has the first Pasmanda Muslim minister, Danish Azad Ansari, in the state cabinet and a few community members at the organizational level.

The Delhi meeting is seen as a part of the ongoing outreach plans for the backward sections ahead of the 2024 general election.

Sources said the party has taken cognizance of the support extended by the backward Muslim community to the BJP in the recent by-elections and assembly polls, which played a crucial role in its victory.

Tricolou plan for Muslim households, madrasas

Lucknow: The BJP in Uttar Pradesh has pressed its Muslim Morcha into service for hoisting Tricolour in around 5 lakh Muslim households, madrasas and dargahs (shrines) on August 15. The BJP Muslim Morcha will undertake the three-day exercise starting from August 12. It has been asked to get the photos of the unfurling of the flag clicked and uploaded on social media.

The socially and economically backward Pasmanda Muslims account for nearly 80% of the Muslims in the country. The BJP also highlights the fact that Muslim leaders in various parties come from the upper caste Ashrafs that comprise the Syeds, Mughals, and Pathans.

BJP spokesperson Guru Prakash Paswan told TNIE that in the coming years, the party would cultivate leaders from the Pasmanda community in leadership roles, though it already has substantial representation at the organization and government levels. He pointed out that in UP, the chairpersons of the state minority commission and madrasa board belong to the Pasmanda community.

"The BJP's victory in the Lok Sabha by-polls in Azamgarh and Rampur illustrates that the backward Muslim community has reposed faith in us and the welfare programmes of the government,' said Paswan.

Analysts point out that Pasmanda Muslims, who are being historically neglected by all ruling dispensations, will grab the opportunity for their uplift.

However, Ali Anwar Ansari, former Rajya Sabha MP and head of All India Pasmanda Muslim Mahaz (AIPMM), doesn't agree. He said the PM's outreach to the backward Muslims is only posturing as it lacks sincerity.

"On one hand, the BJP makes false promises and on the other, it is attacking the backward Muslims in the name of mob lynching, love jihad, and so on. The PM once said that Muslims could be identified from their clothes. It is sheer hypocrisy," said Ansari.

Shinde to expand cabinet, Fadnavis may get home

Eight from BJP and seven Shinde loyalists likely to take oath today

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

Maharashtra cabinet expansion will be carried out in two phases | EXPRESS

THE much-delayed Maharashtra cabinet expansion is finally scheduled for Tuesday.

Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde on Monday said that the name of ministers to be sworn in would be announced on Tuesday. Shinde said that he had called a meeting of his loyalist MLAs to finalise the names.

Since the formation of the new government in Maharashtra, there has been no full-fledged cabinet in the last 40 days in the state.

According to sources, the cabinet expansion will be carried out in two phases. In the first phase, eight from BJP will take oath, while seven from Shinde camp will be sworn in as ministers.

"In the second phase, the remaining ministers will be sworn in. In Maharashtra, as per the Assembly strength, maximum 42 members from both BJP and Shinde camp can be sworn in as ministers. The BJP has 105 MLAs, while Shinde has 40. Shinde promised his loyalists to make ministers in the new government. So, it's a tight rope walk for him," sources said.

The eight ministers from the Shiv Sena had joined the Shinde camp. All of them are likely to be re-inducted as ministers, except Abdul Sattar, whose name surfaced in the Teachers' Eligibility Test (TET) scam on Monday.

The BJP is likely to get crucial home and finance portfolios. Deputy CM Devendra Fadnavs is likely to keep the home ministry with him. "The BJP has decided to name some new faces along with senior leaders. Besides, the BJP has also decided to induct MLAs who helped the party to expand its base against Shiv Sena president Uddhav Thackeray," said sources.

BJP leader Ashish Shelar is unlikely to be inducted into the cabinet. "Shelar is likely to be given party responsibility as president of Maharashtra BJP unit. Shelar is close to Union minister Amit Shah. The BJP wants to promote the Maratha as its face in Maharashtra ahead of upcoming elections. Shelar has also been given the responsibility of BMC elections," sources said.

The monsoon session of Maharashtra Assembly is scheduled from August 10-18.

In J&K, NIA raids against Jamaat men

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE National Investigation Agency (NIA) Monday conducted raids at multiple locations against members of banned Jamaat-e-Islami (JeI) in Doda and Jammu districts of militancy-hit Jammu and Kashmir in connection with a terror funding probe.

NIA sleuths conducted searches at premises of six suspects in Doda district and one suspect in Jammu district, an NIA spokesman said.

"Searches led to recovery of incriminating literature, receipts of funds raised by JeI, bank and property related documents, and electronic devices," the NIA spokesman said. According to him the case pertains to JeI, which even after its declaration as Unlawful Association in 2019, continues to raise funds in various forms purportedly for charitable purposes.

"These funds are however being diverted to militant organisations, such as Hizb-ul-Mujahideen, Lashkar-e-Toiba etc for promoting militant activities in Kashmir valley as well as the rest of India," the NIA said.

The NIA – assisted by police and paramilitary CRPF men – carried out searches at Dhara-Gundana, Munshi Mohalla, Akramband, Nagri Nai Basti, Kharoti Bhagwah, Thalela and Malothi Bhalla areas in Doda district and Bhatindi in Jammu.

The case was registered suo-motu on 05.02.2021 and NIA has filed chargesheet against four people in the case so far.

Case under Arms Act: Cabinet minister gets one-year jail sentence

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

CABINET Minister in the Yogi Adityanath government Rakesh Sachan was sentenced to one-year imprisonment in a case under the Arms Act with a fine of ₹1,500. A Kanpur court of Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate later granted bail on Monday.

Government counsel Sanjay Gupta said since the sentence awarded to the cabinet minister was for less than three years, the court released him on bail. Sachan was granted bail on a bond of ₹50,000.

Uncertainty loomed over Sachan's assembly membership. Had he been sentenced for three years or more, he would have ceased to become an MLA.

Sachan had surrendered before the court on Monday morning after "disappearing" from the courtroom with a copy of the court order following his conviction on Sunday.

The Kanpur police had launched a probe into his disappearance based on a complaint lodged by the additional chief metropolitan magistrate court reader Kamini.

As per a senior police officer, the complaint filed by the court reader said the presiding officer held Rakesh Sachan guilty in the case and started the hearing on the quantum of the sentence. When the presiding officer went inside his chamber, Sachan's lawyer sought the file to check the order. Sachan was booked in a case under the Arms Act on August 13, 1991 after he had allegedly failed to produce the licence for a rifle found in his possession in Naubasta area of Kanpur by the district police. Sachan had then claimed the rifle belonged to his grandfather, according to the prosecution. He was found guilty by the court in the case on August 6.

To remain MLA

Uncertainty loomed over Sachan's assembly membership. Had he been sentenced for three years or more, he would have ceased to become an MLA

However, while going to surrender before the court on Monday morning, Sachan said he was appearing before the court despite not being given any notice, adding the case against him was bogus.

"I am doing so because the media painted me as an absconder. Whatever the court decides, I will abide by it."

After the pronouncement of the quantum of punishment, Sachan said he respected the court's verdict, but would go in appeal in the sessions court.

Pilot still reeling from pain of not being CM

It has been two years since the Sachin Pilot-led rebellion against CM Ashok Gehlot that created a furore within Rajasthan Congress – which came to be known as July 2020 political crisis. The former lost his state party presidency and deputy chief minister's post then. Recently, his pain of not becoming a chief minister was once again evident during a talk show in Jaipur. Pilot said that it is not wrong to be ambitious, but one should not be overtly ambitious. "I believe that nobody is handed anything ahead of their time and luck. Until a person does not work by setting his goal how will he reach there. There is nothing wrong with being ambitious for it," he said.

Maharashtra: Names of ex-minister's daughters surface in TET scam

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mumbai

THE names of two daughters of rebel Shiv Sena MLA Abdul Sattar Abdul Nabi have appeared among candidates who have been debarred by the Maharashtra State Council of Exam for their role in the Teacher Eligibility Test (TET) scam.

The MLA's two children were among the 7,800 candidates accused of allegedly manipulating the results of the TET.

Nabi, who is an MLA from Sillod in Aurangabad, belongs to the Shinde camp. He has denied the allegations, saying his daughters had failed the TET in 2020. Among the names that figure in the list are Heena Kausar Abdul Sattar Shaikh and Uzma Nahid Abdul Sattar Shaikh, daughters of the MLA.

"My political opponents are behind this malicious propaganda. They are dragging my family into the cash-for-marks scandal just before the cabinet expansion," Nabi said.

The MLA alleged the role of money behind the "conspiracy," saying somebody must have been paid for putting his daughters' names on the list of suspects. "It is only today that my daughters and I realized that there exists a TET-qualified certificate in their name. My opponents are dragging the name of my younger son who is taking his LLB exams. I am going to meet the CM and demand an inquiry," said the MLA.

The TET exam scandal surfaced in December 2021. The probe revealed that thousands of students who appeared for TET inflated their marks in the result sheets. Some students even got fake certificates allegedly in exchange for cash. After the probe, over 7,800 TET candidates were disqualified.

5 student leaders freed, but blockade on

WHY IS MANIPUR TENSE?

WHAT IS THE ETHNIC COMPOSITION OF MANIPUR

The Meiteis are in a large majority in the Imphal valley. It is home to over 70% of the state's total population of 28.55 lakh. The tribal communities, largely Nagas and Kukis, live in the hills. The land there is protected. Non-tribals cannot buy land there but the tribals can do so in the valley.

IS THERE A FEELING OF DEPRIVATION AMONG TRIBALS?

There has always been a divide between the hills and the valley. The tribals would often allege that the hills have not developed on par with the valley. After the BJP had wrested power from the Congress in 2017, the government took up some initiatives to bridge the gap.

WHAT IS THE BILL THAT STOKED UNREST?

- The state government-constituted Hill Areas Committee, made up of all 20 tribal MLAs, recommended the draft Manipur (Hill Areas) Autonomous District Council (Amendment) Bill last year. It seeks to amend the Manipur (Hill Areas) District Councils Act, 1971 on the grounds that it has deficiencies. The draft Bill, if passed by the Assembly, will ensure greater autonomy to the six autonomous district councils in tribal areas.
- The tribals, led by the protesting All Tribal Students' Union Manipur (ATSUM), demanded this Bill to be tabled in the Assembly but the government introduced the Manipur (hill areas) district council 6th and 7th amendment bills. ATSUM and all its units rejected it. They are upset that the word "autonomous" has been removed to deny autonomy to the district councils.

HOW DOES BLOCKING THE HIGHWAYS WORK FOR PROTESTS?

Two national highways are Manipur's lifelines – one enters from Nagaland, and the other from Assam. Any blockade enforced on these highways in the hills chokes supplies to the valley.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Guwahati

THE five arrested leaders of the All Tribal Students' Union Manipur (ATSUM) were released from jail on Monday, but the indefinite "economic blockade", enforced on the national highways in the state's hill areas since Friday morning, continued. The police had arrested the five on Thursday and charged them with conspiring to impose the blockade.

Earlier on Monday, an official statement said, "As the Seventh Amendment Bill of Manipur Hill Areas District Councils for devolution of power of ADCs (autonomous district councils) have been referred to Hill Areas Committee (HAC), the HAC will have consultation with stakeholders before recommending to the Manipur Legislative Assembly."

Further, it said the five arrested ATSUM leaders would be released after lifting of the blockade without any charges and that the arrest warrant and FIR against the ATSUM leaders would be "nullified".

Minister Letpao Haokip, who is on the HAC, had said an understanding had been reached to lift the blockade after the release of the student leaders.

The official statement had the signatures of ATSUM vice-president Vanlallien Khaute, Kuki Students' Organisation president Sasang Vaiphei and All Naga Students' Association of Manipur (ANSAM) president Peter T Wanglar.

The student leaders and the HAC had three rounds of meetings on Sunday which continued till midnight. The ATSUM on Monday said the meetings were inconclusive.

"We did not enter into any agreement. The trio had appended their signatures in individual capacity, without the sanction of the three students' organisations. It was not a collective decision," ANSAM general secretary Thotso Chahong told this newspaper.

"The crux of the issue is the HAC-recommended Bill. The other Bill introduced by the government in the Assembly has been rejected by the tribals. Secondly, we did not enforce the blockade demanding release of the five leaders," he said. The three students' bodies held a consultative meeting with the leaders of all leading tribal organisations of the state on Monday and decided to continue with the blockade.

Row in Gujarat over Centre 'holding RTI funds'

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

THE Central government has not allocated any grant to the Gujarat government since 2015 for training and awareness activities involving right to information. The Gujarat State Information Commission too did not get any funds under the RTI Act 2005.

This was revealed in an RTI application filed by Pankti Jog of Mahiti Adhikar Gujarat Pahel, an NGO. As per data, before 2015, the state received Rs 50.55-lakh grant for RTI training and Awareness programmes.

The opposition Congress and the Aam Aadmi Party have accused the BJP of trying to kill the RTI Act to hide corruption.

Congress spokesperson Manish Doshi said the Congress government had brought the RTI Act to enable the people to know how government departments functioned and reduce corruption.

"The BJP is trying to kill the RTI law to hide corruption going on in their government. The state government itself has given enough proof that it is trying to abolish the RTI law," said Doshi. He said the party would make it a major key issue in the assembly elections later this year. "We will include in our manifesto the steps needed to strengthen the RTI law. Besides, we'd also raise the issue of paucity of funds for the programme in Parliament," Doshi said.

AAP is also preparing for a statewide agitation to corner the BJP. "The RTI Act is one of the effective tools to bring transparency and accountability in the administration. If citizens are aware, they can participate in a more meaningful manner in matters of governance," said AAP spokesperson Yogesh Jadwani.

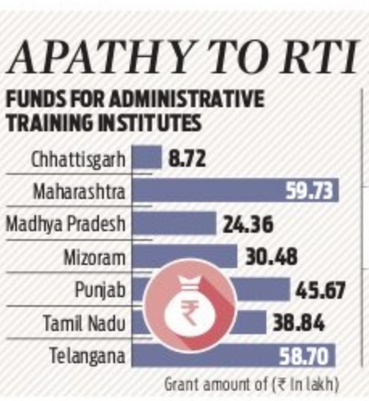
He said AAP leader Arvind Kejriwal was instrumental in bringing in the RTI Act. "If the BJP government tries to abolish or dilute the law, our party will protest," he said.

"The country knows that RTI activists have been killed in Gujarat. The state BJP government never provided protection to RTI activists. In such a situation, can the BJP-led government fund an RTI awareness program?" Jadvani asked. He said the post of Information Commissioner in Gujarat was also vacant for years, indicating the government attitude.

As per details revealed in the RTI, not only Gujarat, but even Centre has stopped funding for RTI training and awareness programmes. Gujarat is one of the four states which did not get any grant under the RTI Act.

APATHY TO RTI DELIVERY

FUNDS FOR ADMINISTRATIVE TRAINING INSTITUTES



Not only Gujarat, funding for RTI training and awareness was stopped to Odisha, Karnataka, and Arunachal Pradesh.

The Gujarat State Information Commission too did not get any funds under the RTI Act 2005

However, Maharashtra, Telangana, Punjab, Haryana and Tamil Nadu received maximum grants.

Uttarakhand: Gangajal to go global

NARENDRA SETHI @Dehradun

THE Uttarakhand government will start marketing Ganga-Jal in the country and abroad under the 'Nirvan Amrit Gangajal' scheme from next month. The Uttarakhand Provincial Cooperative Union (PCU) has prepared a blueprint for marketing the holy water for 12 million Hindus across the world.

The quality of the ceramic pots ('kalash'), which are being used for packaging the holy water, are being tested at Khurja's Central Glass and Ceramic Research Institute, under CSIR.

Managing director of the state PSU Man Singh Saini said the project would start with an initial investment of Rs 5 crore. "We have set up a Ganga water collection centre at Devprayag, on the banks of the Sangam, the point where the actual Ganga begins with the merger of Bhagirathi and Alaknanda rivers," he said.

"Around 85% of Hindus settled abroad use Ganga-Jal in their life and 42% of people always store the sacred water at their homes," he said.

Manager Deepak Mehta told this reporter that Ganga-Jal would be marketed at a cost of ₹251 for 300 ml pack. The PSU is engaging Indian Postal Department, Flipkart and Amazon for the marketing. The proceeds of the sale will go towards the cost of manufacturing of ceramic pots, courier charges, potter cost, honorarium to self-help groups engaged in water collection and the retailers' share."

A project officer said the state government's initiative came in wake of the fact that many companies are selling water in bottles with wrappers of Ganga-Jal on it. The number of such companies is around 110. However, none of these companies had a water collection centre at the banks of the holy river.

China extends Taiwan war games

New round of exercises includes anti-submarine drills to rehearse targeting US forces

BEIJING

CHINA said on Monday it is extending threatening military exercises surrounding Taiwan that have disrupted shipping and air traffic and substantially raised concerns about the potential for conflict in a region crucial to global trade.

The announcement further increases uncertainty in the crisis that developed last week with US House Speaker Nancy Pelosi's visit to Taiwan.

The exercises will include anti-submarine drills, apparently targeting US support for Taiwan in the event of a potential Chinese invasion, according to social media posts from the eastern leadership of China's ruling Communist Party's military arm, the People's Liberation Army.

The military has said the exercises, involving missile strikes, warplanes and ship movements crossing the midline of the Taiwan Strait dividing the sides, are a response to Pelosi's visit.

China has ignored calls to calm the tensions, and there was no immediate indication of when it would end what amounts to a blockade.

On Monday, Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Wang Wenbin said China would "firmly safeguard China's sovereignty and territorial integrity, resolutely deter the US from containing China with the Taiwan issue and resolutely shatter the Taiwan authorities' illusion of "relying on the US for independence."

Asked in Dover, Delaware, on Monday about China's response to Pelosi's visit, US President Joe Biden said: "I'm not worried, but I'm concerned they're moving as much as they are. But I don't think they're going to do anything more than they are." Taiwan's defense ministry said Sunday it detected a total of 66 aircraft and 14 warships conducting the naval and air exercises.

Meanwhile, Taiwan's official Central News Agency reported that Taiwan's army will conduct live-fire artillery drills in southern Pingtung county on Tuesday and Thursday, in response to the Chinese exercises.

Xi is seeking a third term as Communist Party leader later this year. His control over the armed forces and what he has defined as China's "core interests" — including Taiwan, territorial claims in the South China Sea and historic adversary Japan — are key to maintaining his nationalist credentials. AFP

BIG WIN FOR DEMOCRATS

THE ESTIMATED PACKAGE — PASSED ON SUNDAY BY THE SENATE AND HEADING TO THE HOUSE — IS FULL OF PARTY PRIORITIES

$375 billion to be spent over the decade in climate change-fighting strategies including investments in renewable energy production and tax rebates for consumers to buy new or used electric vehicles

$7,500 tax credit for those purchasing an electric car, plus a 30 per cent discount when they install solar panels on their roofs

40% drop in greenhouse gas emissions by 2030 is the aim

$64 bn for health care initiatives and ensure a lowering of some drug costs — which can be 10 times more expensive in the United States than in some other rich countries

15% new 15% minimum tax on corporations that earn more than $1 billion in annual profits

$80 billion investment in IRS for better tax enforcement, which is projected to raise $203 billion in new revenue — a net gain of $124 billion over the decade

It required many compromises. Doing important things almost always does. The House should pass this as soon as possible and I look forward to signing it into law

Joe Biden, US president

US Senate clears $740 bn plan to tackle climate, lower drug costs

WASHINGTON

AFTER 18 months of arduous negotiations and a marathon night of debate, the US Senate on Sunday passed Joe Biden's ambitious climate, tax and health care plan — a significant victory for the president ahead of crucial midterm elections.

Voting as a unified bloc and with the tie-breaking vote cast by Vice President Kamala Harris, Democrats approved the $740-billion plan, which will go to the House of Representatives next week, where it is expected to pass before being signed into law by Biden.

The plan, crafted in sensitive talks with members on the right wing of his Democratic Party, would include the biggest US investment ever on climate — $370 billion. That would give Biden a clear victory on one of his top agenda items and go some way toward restoring US leadership in meeting the global climate challenge.

The bill — officially known as the "Inflation Reduction Act" — passed the Senate with no Republicans voting in favour. Conservative lawmakers have criticized the bill as wasteful spending, with top Republican Senator Mitch McConnell accusing Democrats of voting to "double down on their economic disaster."

Launching a long-sought goal, the bill would allow the Medicare program to negotiate prescription drug prices with pharmaceutical companies, saving the federal government some $288 billion over the 10-year budget window. Those new revenues would be put back into lower costs for seniors on medications, including a $2,000 out-of-pocket cap for older adults buying prescriptions from pharmacies.

The money would also be used to provide free vaccinations for seniors, who now are among the few not guaranteed free access, according to a summary document.

PALESTINIANS CLEAR THE RUBBLE, BURY THE DEAD AS TRUCE WITH ISRAEL HOLDS

GAZA CITY

With a cease-fire between Israel and Palestinian militants holding after nearly three days of violence, Gaza's sole power plant resumed operations Monday and Israel began reopening crossings into the territory.

Israel also lifted security restrictions on southern Israeli communities after the Egyptian-mediated truce took effect late Sunday.

War-weary people in Gaza and Israel were left to pick up the pieces after another round of violence — the worst since an 11-day war between Israel and the territory's militant Hamas rulers last year.

Since Friday, Israeli aircraft had pummeled targets in Gaza, while the Iran-backed Palestinian Islamic Jihad militant group fired hundreds of rockets at Israel.

Over three days of fighting, 44 Palestinians were killed, including 15 children and four women, and 311 were wounded, the Palestinian Health Ministry said. Twelve of those killed were Islamic Jihad militants, one was from a smaller armed group, and two were Hamas-affiliated policemen who were not taking part in the fighting, according to armed factions.

Israel began to reopen crossings into Gaza for humanitarian needs and said it would fully open them if calm continued. Fuel trucks were seen entering the main cargo crossing and heading for the power plant, which shut down Saturday after Israel closed the crossings.

That added to the misery at the height of the summer heat in the territory, which is under an Israeli-Egyptian blockade and suffers from a chronic power crisis that leaves residents with only a few hours of electricity a day.

MOSCOW

RUSSIA and Ukraine traded accusations on Monday that each side is shelling Europe's biggest nuclear power plant in southern Ukraine.

Russia claimed that Ukrainian shelling caused a power surge and fire and forced staff to lower output from two reactors, while Ukraine has blamed Russian troops for storing weapons there. Nuclear experts have warned that more shelling of the Zaporizhzhia nuclear power station, which was captured by Russia early in the war, is fraught with danger. The Kremlin echoed that statement Monday, claiming that Ukrainian shelling could create "catastrophic" consequences for Europe.

Rafael Grossi, director general of the International Atomic Energy Agency, has warned that the way the plant was being run under Russian forces and the fighting going on around it are posing grave health and environmental threats.

Ukrainian officials said Russia is launching attacks from the plant and using its Ukrainian workers as human shields.

Ukraine's military intelligence chief, Andriy Yusov, said the Russian statements by saying his organisation had received credible information from several sources that Russian forces have planted explosives at the Zaporizhzhia plant to head off an expected Ukrainian counteroffensive in the region. Russian Defense Ministry spokesman Lt Gen Igor Konashenkov said Monday that the Ukrainian attack a day earlier at the Zaporizhzhia nuclear plant caused a power surge and smoke erupted at its switch facility, triggering an emergency shutdown. Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov urged Western powers to force Kyiv to stop attacking the plant. "Shelling of the territory of the nuclear plant by the Ukrainian armed forces is highly dangerous," Peskov said.

But Yusov, Ukraine's military intelligence chief, said Monday: "We have seen the Russian shelling of the Ukrainian nuclear power plant." AFP

RILED by Sri Lanka's request to defer the planned docking of a high-tech Chinese research vessel at the strategic Hambantota Port, China on Monday took a dig at India, saying it was "senseless to pressure" Colombo by citing the issue of security concerns.

According to reports from Colombo, Sri Lanka has asked Beijing to defer the arrival of the Chinese space and satellite tracking research vessel 'Yuan Wang 5' which was scheduled to dock at the Hambantota Port from August 11 to 17 due to security concerns expressed by India. Responding to the reports, Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesman Wang Wenbin told a media briefing here that Beijing has taken note of the reports and asserted that 'the cooperation between China and Sri Lanka is independently chosen by the two countries and meets common interests. It does not target any third party'.

It is 'senseless to pressure Sri Lanka' by citing the issue of security concerns, he said, in reference to the reports that Sri Lanka's move was attributed to concerns expressed by India.

Jio completes 5G coverage strategy for top 1K cities

RIL says it will develop green energy solutions at affordable price

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

AHEAD of 5G rollout, India's largest telecom operator Reliance Jio has completed a 5G coverage strategy for top 1,000 cities, with 100% indigenous technology.

The company in its annual report said Jio has also developed several use cases for 5G in industries like healthcare and industrial automation. Jio also entered into a strategic partnership with Google for its Cloud Solutions to power the 5G experience of Indian enterprises as well as consumers.

"Jio joined hands with University of Oulu in Finland – the leader of the world's first major 6G research programme – to accelerate research and standardisation in 6G – the futuristic next-generation of telecom technology after 5G," said the company in its annual report.

Reliance's telecom arm Jio was the most aggressive bidder in the recently-concluded 5G spectrum auction. The company spent ₹88, 078 crore to acquire spectrum in the 700MHz, 800MHz, 1800MHz, 3300MHz and 26GHz bands in all 22 circles. It is the only telco to buy pricey and coveted 700 MHz spectrum, which can provide 6-10 kilometres of signal range with one tower, and forms a good base for offering fifth generation (5G) services in all 22 circles or zones in the country.

In the energy sector, the company said it will develop end-to-end green energy solutions, which will make clean and abundant energy available to everyone at the most affordable price. "Just as India has the world's most affordable wireless broadband today, we will have the world's most affordable green energy within this decade. And these solutions will then be exported to other countries, helping them contain carbon emissions," said the company. To kickstart the initiative, last year Reliance announced a $10 billion capex commitment over three years.

The conglomerate aims to be net carbon zero by 2035. The total renewable energy consumption increased by 351% year-on-year in FY2021-22. Reliance also achieved a 16% reduction in flaring at E&P and O2C sites compared to FY 2020-21.

Meanwhile, Reliance Retail has invested nearly ₹30,000 crore in its business and added 2,500 new stores in FY 2021-2022, taking the total store count to 15,196. The retail giant has also added over 1,50,000 jobs to the economy, taking the employee base to 3,61,000, RIL said in the annual report. During the year Reliance Retail strengthened its sourcing ecosystem working closely with producers, MSMEs, service providers, local and global brands, the company said.

Mukesh Ambani draws no salary for 2 years

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

WHILE billionaire Mukesh Ambani voluntarily drew no salary in 2021-22, his dividend income during the year was nearly ₹6.5 crore.

Ambani as the promoter director of Reliance Industries individually holds 80.52 lakh shares of the company. The company declared a dividend of ₹8 per share in 2021-22.

Other members of Mukesh Ambani's family – wife and three kids – also hold 80.52 lakh shares each of RIL. The total holdings of the promoter/promoter group in the company is 50.62%, or 332 crore shares.

Mukesh Ambani had not drawn any salary in FY21 owing to the Covid-19 pandemic and then continued to forgo his salary in the year 2021-22, as revealed by Reliance Industries' latest annual report.

The RIL boss didn't avail of allowances, perquisites, retiral benefits, commission or stock options from the company as the Chairman and Managing Director for the last two years.

Prior to the Covid-19 pandemic, Ambani's salary was capped at ₹15 crore annually since 2008-09. Other than Ambani, the board includes Nikhil Meswani, Hital Meswani, PMS Prasad and Pawan Kumar Kapil as whole-time directors. While Nikhil and Hital Meswani drew remuneration of ₹24 crore each; executive directors PMS Prasad and Pawan Kumar Kapil's drew ₹11.89 crore and ₹4.22 crore as remuneration in 2021-22, respectively. Nita Ambani, a non-executive director on the RIL board, drew ₹5 lakh as a sitting fee and ₹2 crore commission for FY 2021-22.

Cryptocurrency exchange Binance removes off-chain transfers to WazirX

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

USERS of crypto exchange WazirX are worried as Binance on Monday ceased off-chain fund transfer between the exchange and WazirX.

It will cease to support off-chain fund transfers between WazirX Exchange and Binance via the 'Login with Binance' option, which is said to be a popular feature on WazirX.

Users will still be able to deposit and withdraw balances via the standard withdrawal and deposit process between Binance and WazirX, world's largest crypto exchange Binance said. WazirX has nearly 15 million registered users, and the public spat between the exchange and Binance started ever since the Enforcement Directorate (ED) froze its bank balances worth ₹64.67 crore.

WazirX founder Nischal Shetty said the exchange was acquired by Binance and Zanmai Labs has license from Binance to operate INR-crypto pairs on WazirX.

However, the latter denied this and said funds deposited on WazirX were not managed by the exchange and that acquisition transaction was never completed.

Binance has never owned any shares of Zanmai Labs. Binance, which has over 90 million registered users, said it will support Indian regulators in the ongoing matters.

Binance CEO Changpeng Zhao tweeted saying WazirX has been uncooperative with them and it looks like uncooperative with ED as well. "We asked for transferring of WazirX system source code, deployment, operations, as recently as Feb this year. This was refused by WazirX. Binance do NOT have control on their systems," Zhao tweeted.

In a separate tweet he also said, "If you have funds on WazirX, you should transfer it to Binance. Simple as that."

During ED investigation, it is observed that Zanmai claims that they are involved in only INR-crypto transactions and all the other transactions are done by Binance on WazirX.

"They are giving contradictory and ambiguous answers to evade oversight by Indian regulatory agencies," ED said.

When contacted WazirX, it said, "We do not agree with the allegations in the ED press release. We are evaluating our further plan of action.

We are the only large crypto exchange that allows complete withdrawals of cryptos in India, showing how solvent we are and how sensible our business model is." The exchange added that INR withdrawals are working and there is no issue in terms of the structural viability of the company and that users' crypto is safe.

SpiceJet denies reports of banks putting loans on high-risk head

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

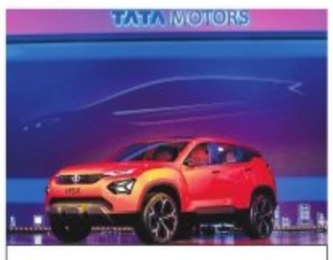
DEBT-LADEN Spicejet on Monday denied the reports that a few banks have put their account on high -risk category.

According to the reports, private lenders IDFC First Bank and Yes Bank and state-owned Indian Bank have put their loans to SpiceJet in the high-risk category in what is said to be the latest setback for the airline. "SpiceJet would like to state that the article is absolutely false and baseless. None of our banks has put our account on high risk or alert. The same has been confirmed to us by our lenders. It is unfortunate that the story was run despite our strong denial and no official comment from any of our banks," a SpiceJet spokesperson said.

According to a Reuters report, lenders are concerned about SpiceJet's cash flows and have held discussions seeking assurances from the Indian budget carrier, as it is behind on payments to some aircraft lessors. According to industry sources, three SpiceJet aircraft have been deregistered by the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA), after their lessor Dubai Aerospace Enterprise (DAE) asked the aviation regulator for it. At the end of Q3 FY22, the company had negative retained earnings of ₹5,453.4 crore and a negative net worth of ₹3,830.7 crore.

Tata Motors acquires Ford India's Sanand plant for ₹725 crore

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi



TPEML adds capacity to roll out 3L units

TPEML has also agreed to offer employment to the eligible employees of FIPL's Powertrain Manufacturing Plant. Acquisition gives Tata Motors a facility that can roll out 300,000 unit vehicles per annum

TATA PASSENGER ELECTRIC MOBILITY LIMITED (TPEML), a subsidiary of Tata Motors and Ford India (FIPL), on Sunday signed an agreement to acquire FIPL's manufacturing plant situated at Sanand, Gujarat.

TPEML will acquire its entire land and buildings, vehicle manufacturing plant along with machinery and equipment for a consideration of ₹725.7 crore.

TPEML has also agreed to offer employment to the eligible employees of FIPL's Powertrain Manufacturing Plant in the event of FIPL's cessation of operations. According to industry estimates, currently there are over 3,000 people employed in direct jobs and about 20,000 people engaged in indirect jobs at the Sanand plant.

This acquisition gives Tata Motors a manufacturing facility that can roll out 300,000 unit vehicles per annum, which is scalable to 420,000 units.

"With our manufacturing capacity nearing saturation, this acquisition is timely and a win-win for all stakeholders," said Tata Motors in a statement. Currently, Tata Motor's peak production capacity is pegged at 50,000 units per month and given the aggressive expansion plan it has to launch as many as 10 battery powered vehicles by March 2026, the new facility is expected to play an important role for the automaker.

Shailesh Chandra, Managing Director, Tata Motors Passenger Vehicles and Tata Passenger Electric Mobility, said, "The agreement with FIPL signed today is beneficial to all stakeholders and reflects Tata Motors strong aspiration to further strengthen its market position in the passenger vehicles segment and to continue to build on its leadership position in the electric vehicle segment."

Ford, the iconic American car brand whose founder Henry Ford revolutionised the automotive industry in the early 20th Century, last year announced it will stop manufacturing vehicles in India due to accumulating losses. Meanwhile, Ford's Chennai plant rolled out its last unit of sports utility vehicle EcoSport late July before winding up its operations by July 31. As of now, the carmaker has said it would continue to retain ownership of the land and machinery.

Govt offers SMEs, start-ups to use 5G test bed for free

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

IN a bid to boost the 5G ecosystem in the country, the government on Monday decided to offer the indigenous 5G test bed to use free of cost to the recognised start-ups and MSMEs for the next six months up to January 2023.

For other stakeholders, this service will be available at a very nominal rate. "Department of Telecommunications (DoT) has strongly urged all 5G stakeholders i.e. industry, academia, service providers, R&D institutions, government bodies, equipment manufacturers etc. to utilise the 5G test bed facilities and expertise to test and facilitate the speedy development and deployment of their products in the network," said the telecom ministry in a statement. The government recently concluded a 5G spectrum auction, in which it garnered a whooping ₹1.53 lakh crore. Telecom minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said the 5G service in India is most likely to start by the telecom operators in the first week of October 2022.

Earlier in March, 2018, the telecom ministry had approved financial grant for the multi-institute collaborative project to set up 'Indigenous 5G Test Bed' in India with total cost of ₹224 crore. The 5G test bed is available at five locations viz., Integrated Test Bed at CEWiT / IIT Madras and other test beds are at IIT-Delhi, IIT-Hyderabad, IIT-Kanpur and IISc-Bangalore.

Top gainers and losers in Indian equity markets

M & M, Coal India, Bajaj Finserv, Hindalco Industries and HDFC Bank were top Nifty gainers, while BPCL, SBI, UltraTech, Britannia and Nestle India were laggards

EQUITY market on Monday extended its rally on account of sustained foreign fund inflow and falling oil prices. At close, BSE benchmark Sensex was up 465.14 points to 58,853.07, while the Nifty50 ended 127.60 points higher at 17,525.10.

Mahindra & Mahindra, Coal India, Bajaj Finserv, Hindalco Industries and HDFC Bank were the top gainers on the Nifty Index, while BPCL, SBI, UltraTech Cement, Britannia Industries and Nestle India were the laggards.

Foreign institutional investors (FIIs), which were missing from the action over the past few months, have once again started taking exposure to local equities, thus providing a major impetus to the markets, said Shrikant Chouhan, head of equity research (Retail), Kotak Securities. Kunal Valia, chief investments officer – Listed Investments, Waterfield Advisors, said they are not yet confident that inflation will drop to the Fed's Comfort level this year and whether recessionary trends are broad based in the US economy. "So the current turnaround in stance of FIIs with regards to India is yet to be confirmed. However, we believe a large part of FII selling in India is past us and we will monitor the growth-inflation dynamics for a quarter to be certain," added Valia.

Meanwhile, Paytm shares jumped over 6% on Monday to their highest levels in nearly six months even as the fintech giant's net losses widened to ₹645 crore for Q1FY23 compared with a loss of ₹382 crore a year earlier. Its revenue from operations came in at ₹1,680 crore in the first quarter, up 89% from the year-ago quarter.

Going forward, experts have different opinions on the stock which has lost 37.62% in 2022 but risen 19.14% in a month.

Honda enters mid-sized bike segment with CB300F

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

HONDA MOTORCYCLE & SCOOTER INDIA (HMSI) on Monday launched a new mid-size bike - CB300F - as the Japanese two-wheeler maker eyes to expand its market share in the growing mid-size segment, which is dominated by Royal Enfield and has seen increased participation from TVS Motor and Bajaj Auto.

The new bike, produced locally at the company's Gujarat plant, comes at a price tag of ₹2.26 lakh and will be sold exclusively in Honda's BigWing Showrooms.

"At present, we have a market share of 6% in the segment (300cc and plus), but we are absent in 50% of the market. In the 50% where we are present, we have a share of 11%. In the next 3 years, we would like to corner the quarter (25%) of the premium motorcycle market," P. Rajagopi, Operating Officer, Premium Motorcycle Business, Honda Motorcycle & Scooter India told TNIE. According to Rajagopi, HSMI would achieve this by expanding its touch points (BigWing showrooms) from 100, at present, to 200-300 in the next few years, launching new products and engaging with the rider community. "This segment's volume used to be 1 million units 5 years back but now it has come down to 6,00,000 units due to the covid, chip shortage, increased regulation and other factors.... We expect the market size to bounce back to 1 million units soon. Hence, the opportunity is big," said Rajagopi.

Interestingly, HMSI's launch in the 300cc segment comes a day after when Royal Enfield, the global leader in the mid-sized (250cc-750cc) motorcycle segment, launched the new Hunter 350, a 'two-wheeled double-espresso' of motorcycling, at ₹1.50 lakhs.

Atsushi Ogata, Managing Director, President & CEO, Honda Motorcycle & Scooter India said, "The two-wheeler landscape in India is undergoing a big shift as we move up in the motorcycle category. Riders, in mid-size segment and above in particular, are looking for a fine balance between performance, versatility & modernism."

BIRMINGHAM 2022 commonwealth games

BRUM'S DAY

17K With the capacity of Edgbaston ground limited to 20,000 during the CWG, as many as 17,000 people reportedly attended the gold medal women's cricket game between India & Australia. It is highest attendance for a neutral women's international cricket in England.

You learn from it and your time will come. It sounds cheesy but it's true. Eight years of Commonwealths and it's been bugging me so this means a lot.

FINAL STANDINGS

Hopeful of CWG debut in Africa soon

AGENCIES @ Birmingham

THE Commonwealth Games is likely to enter Africa in the near future as there is "active interest" from African nations, Commonwealth Games Federation (CGF) chief executive officer Katie Sadleir said on Monday.

"I hope it will open up a few eyes for the future Games," she said, adding that "there is active interest from countries in Africa in staging the Games." South African city Durban was the original hosts for the 22nd edition of the CWG before it pulled out referring financial constraints.

"Certainly it's something we are interested in talking to a few other countries together to see how the model would like."

In terms of ticket sales in the ongoing edition, Games CEO Ian Reid said that it would be record breaking.

"As of now 1.5 million tickets sold across the venues and this is not the final figure as some matches are still on. We had 90 per cent in most of venues which would make it the most successful CWG.

GOLD DUST: HAPPY ENDING

Sindhu, Lakshya and doubles pair of Satwik & Chirag win on final day to help shuttlers finish on top of the podium

ANMOL GURUNG @ Chennai

IT may sound cliche, but the Games did end on a high. The shuttlers ensured there were no surprises on Monday when they won three gold. PV Sindhu displayed her class and big-game temperament to open India's gold account. Lakshya Sen showed his ability to survive clutch moments while the everrising doubles pair of Satwiksairaj Rankireddy and Chirag Shetty smashed their way into history books.

Sindhu was the first to take the court and she was the favourite. Up against Michelle Li, a Canadian shuttler who had beaten her during the semifinals of the 2014 edition, Sindhu looked hungry. Playing with heavy straps just above her left ankle, there were concerns if that would hinder Sindhu. But those concerns were put to bed as soon as she floated around the court to engage in rallies and force Li to make errors. Sindhu continued with that game plan and was finding success, much to the joy of many Indian badminton fans who had turned up in large numbers at the NEC Hall 5, Birmingham. Li did manage to pull back a point or two but that was in short supply. The second game was the same with Sindhu relying on her big-stage nous. As she continued to collect points, Li could only offer a resigned smile. In the end, Sindhu got over the line with a perfect cross-court smash on the right (21-15, 21-13). This gold comes after silver and bronze in the last two editions (2014, 2018). Saina Nehwal was the other woman player to have won gold at the event.

"In my opinion, she is better than all other entries and she was expected to win. But these are pressure situations, she handled them well. She had a tough outing during the quarterfinals, but she managed to survive. As an athlete, she has won everything. She has done great for the country and has been very consistent. I'm pleased for her," U Vimal Kumar, former national chief coach, told this daily.

Fighting win

While Sindhu handled the pressure well, Lakshya, battling for the first CWG gold, seemed edgy at the start against NG Tze Yong of Malaysia. Tze Yong, who had beaten Kidambi Srikanth in the semifinals, was just the opposite and seemed to be ready for the big occasion. Both were involved in some high-quality badminton but it was Tze Yong who pocketed the first game. Lakshya, after some big cross-court smashes, was in control in the second game. Tze seemed fatigued and Lakshya was on level terms in no time. It was down to the third game. There was plenty of pressure on both. But this was Lakshya's territory. Over the past year or so, Lakshya has thrived in demanding situations to make headlines. Tze Yong gave it all and like the first game, they were involved in some fast-paced rallies, which saw some superhuman reflex returns from both. "I liked the way Lakshya played. More than the quality of the match, how he dealt with pressure situations. One good thing Lakshya did was he did not allow his rival to push the pace. He was dictating play (second and third game) and that helped. He was always a few points ahead," Vimal said.

Mental fortitude

Apart from help from coaches at Prakash Padukone Badminton Academy (PPBA), being in regular touch with sports psychologist, Gayatri Vartak, is something that seem to have boosted Lakshya's overall development. "They interact a lot and that helps him to a big extent. He's become a star and a lot of people expect big things from him. So that has made a huge difference," Vimal said.

Historic return

Satwiksairaj and Chirag made it a perfect day against Sean Vendy and Ben Lane of the host nation. Like Sindhu, the Indian pair asserted play with some powerful hits. The match also witnessed some high-quality action with the second game producing a 61-shot rally, which saw players from each side change their racquets midway.

After reaching the finishing line (final score 21-15, 21-13), both Chirag and Satwik were understandably animated. Satwik even showed his peppy dance in front of the camera. All that highlighted the significance of the duo's win. The pair became the first men's doubles pair from India to claim the gold.

INDIA ROUND-UP

PM MODI PRAISES 'PHENOMENAL' SINDHU

Prime Minister Narendra Modi lauded ace badminton player P V Sindhu as phenomenal and champion of champions on Monday. "The phenomenal P V Sindhu is a champion of champions! She repeatedly shows what excellence is all about. Her dedication and commitment is awe-inspiring. Congratulations to her on winning the Gold medal at the CWG. Wishing her the best for her future endeavours," Modi said.

BRONZE MEDAL FOR PADDLER SATHIYAN IN MEN'S SINGLES

G Sathiyan bagged his maiden CWG singles medal as he won bronze, beating home-favourite Paul Drinkhall 4-3 in front of a packed crowd. Sathiyan avenged his men's doubles final loss against Drinkhall and triumphed 11-9, 11-3, 11-5, 8-11, 9-11, 10-12 and 11-9. The bronze was Sathiyan's sixth overall medal at the CWG since Gold Coast 2018 and back-to-back medals in as many days. Earlier, he had won silver with Sharath Kamal in men's doubles.

JEREMY GETS HERO'S WELCOME ON RETURN

Weightlifter Jeremy Lalrinnunga was on Monday accorded a hero's welcome as he returned home in Aizawl after winning a gold medal for India at the Birmingham CWG. He was received by Mizoram Sports minister and Mizoram Olympic Association president Robert Romawia Royte, ruling Mizo National Front MLA from Aizawl West-I seat Zothantluanga, senior officials and family members, at the Lengpui airport. Addressing a brief welcome home ceremony at the airport, Royte said Jeremy's success has brought laurel to not only India but also to Mizoram.

SHARATH KAMAL: MIND, BODY AND SOUL

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

AT the 2006 Melbourne Commonwealth Games Achanta Sharath Kamal became the first Indian table tennis player to win two gold. He had won a historic singles too. He was a young man of 24 and had long hair and a bandana wrapped around his head. He was fit and had the intense desire to win.

Sixteen years later, the hair has receded and the quiet and ebullient young man has added vast experience to his repertoire of shots and defences... and a level head. One thing that he never compromises is fitness. Like he says, 'even water turns into fat' fitness has turned into a ritual. He never missed training sessions. With age, reflexes get weaker, so he works on reflexes. He works on his body so that he doesn't add extra ounce.

Sharath uses a techno-training 'Real Lights', mostly used by F1 drivers, NFL and NBA players. At Birmingham, in the twilight of his career, Sharath Kamal, stood alone once again on top -- with four medals, including three gold - a record that would take some time to overhaul.

Whether this could be his last Commonwealth Games, we don't know. He believes that as long as he performs, age is just a number. His medals are a result of immense discipline and sacrifices and a strict fitness regimen. No wonder, in a span of almost 24 hours, he featured in three finals, winning two of them. There is less recovery time. Mind is willing but the body may not respond. With age it gets more difficult. That's why this feat is considered extraordinary. Over the last few years, Sharath has been working more on fitness. In fact, the amount of time he spends for training sessions is more than what he spends on the table.

From carefully chosen diet by his nutritionist to sessions with mental strengthening expert and fitness sessions, each of it is planned in such an order that he attains peak level fitness during important events like CWG, Asian Games and Olympics. This has been his routine since the time he suffered a hamstring injury months before the Rio Olympic in 2016.

The man who looks after his fitness is Ramji Srinivasan.

India's table tennis superstar Sharath Kamal won his 7th CWG gold on Sunday | AFP

And he says he has never seen such a disciplined and motivated athlete at this age. "He is not someone who trains hard, but trains smart," says Srinivasan who has been training him at Sports Dynamics for more eight years. "Beyond an age, training need to be smart and design a routine for yourself."

Sharath's personalised programme is designed in such a way that he spends a lot of time to sharpen his reflexes. Apart from the usual fitness drills that keep him fit, the 'Reax Light' has become integral part of his training. It gives a clear indication of where a player stands in terms of reflexes and hand-eye co-ordination.

After losing to three-time Olympic champion Ma Long at the Tokyo Games last year, Sharath figured his backhand was getting slower and worked extensively on it in the lead up to the CWG. And before he left for Bimingham his reaction time stood at 0.2 of a second.

"There is lot of science that is combined with art. It is a very difficult sport to train because it is so quick, there is a lot of hand-eye co-ordination and less reaction time. As one ages, the recovery time takes long, reaction time tends to get slower especially after 35. So you have to analyse those things and pick what is needed for you."

Routine training can get boring for a player like Sharath who has been playing for nearly three decades. So Ramji and Sharath try to keep it engaging. "The first goal is to avoid injury. We have made each session different so that it gets interesting," Ramji said.

Much of his off-season is used for improvement while during season he shifts to maintenance mode. The latter part is difficult as training schedule changes according to place, condition, accessibility and travel. "You got to have the mind and body in sync. Some choose to have an off day and next day they compensate by working too hard at the gym. For Sharath, it is a no because his body may not respond. The best part is, he doesn't miss a single session even while playing in Bundesliga."

Before heading to Birmingham, Sharath ran 5km under 20 minutes, a clear indication of where he stood in terms of fitness. As of now, he doesn't seem to be slowing down.

India no match for Hockeyroos, finish with silver

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Mahabalipuram

WHENEVER Australia face India in men's hockey at the Commonwealth Games — in any international tournament for that matter — it's a grim reminder of the gap that exists between the two nations. That chasm between the two nations once again revealed itself on a sun-kissed blue turf at the University of Birmingham Hockey and Squash Centre on Monday.

The final was effectively over as a contest even before the first 15 minutes had been played. At the end of the first quarter, they were leading 2-0, home, hosed and ready for the medal ceremony. On the other hand, the Men In Blue didn't know how to handle the Green and Yellow train that was steaming up to their attacking circle once every minute. To be honest, unless they could have fielded a few extra bodies to make it a 13 v. 11 or a 14 v. 11, India could have tried everything and would have still finished on the losing side. Because Australia's dominance was so total, so utterly convincing.

They turned on the ignition and pressed the accelerator at pushback. They only released their hold on the accelerator when the hooter went off to signal the end of the match. The goal-scoring began in the ninth minute via Blake Govers and the only surprise with that was it didn't come sooner.

They already had a few sights on goal, including from the penalty corner. India defended those but the bodies had already begun to drop, They tried to engineer a few attacking moves but it lacked any conviction. That it came via a penalty corner wasn't surprising, they entered India's striking circle at will and repeatedly kept finding an Indian foot. The second goal which came five minutes later deflated Indian shoulders. It developed after a failed Indian attack.

India lost 0-7 to Australia in the final on Monday to bag Silver | AP

Australia, who haven't lost a match in this event since 1998, picked up the ball in their own half, and dribbled their way comfortably through opposition traffic before literally walking the ball into an empty net. After the match, former captain Viren Rasquinha came up with the apt line to sum up the match but it could have been a perfect metaphor to describe the second goal. "They got punched in the face," he said.

On Monday, the Indian team, who upgraded their bronze from 2018 to a forgettable silver on Monday, woke up to the news that energetic midfielder Vivek Sagar Prasad would miss the final because of an injury. His passing and energy were a big miss and it showed whenever they attacked. He plays those short, cute give-and-goes and it can catch opponents out. He's also adept at going long and is press resistant.

Without him, they lacked ideas, especially when on the ball. They did have lots of possession — 47 per cent — but what let them down from an attacking perspective was the lack of quality in their passing and creativity. They frequently overhit or undercooked their passes, especially when they came into Australia's third. By the time Australia were celebrating their seventh and final goal, it all seemed a bit cruel.

That India didn't get a single penalty corner in the match was indicative of this.

Super show: Debutant Sagar wins silver medal

AGENCIES @ Birmingham

INDIAN boxer Sagar Ahlawat concluded an impressive Commonwealth Games campaign by clinching the silver medal in the super heavyweight (+92kg) division here. Competing in his maiden international event, Sagar lost the gold medal bout to home favourite Delicious Orie via a 5-0 unanimous decision late on Sunday. Despite the loss in the final, it was a successful campaign for the youngster, who took up the sport five years ago after reading a newspaper article on the 2015 'Fight of the Century' between boxing legends Floyd Mayweather Jr and Manny Pacquiao. The Indian boxing contingent will return with seven medals, including three gold, a silver and three bronze.

Swiatek dominates WTA rankings, Medvedev stays on top

Daria Kasatkina was rewarded for her win in San Jose at the weekend with a return to the top 10 for the first time since 2019, when the WTA rankings were released on Monday. Iga Swiatek retains the top spot with almost twice as many points as number two Anett Kontaveit. Meanwhile, Daniil Medvedev retained his position at the top of the ATP rankings.

Big guns return for Asia Cup, Bumrah out

AGENCIES @ New Delhi

FORMER skipper Virat Kohli and a fit-again KL Rahul on Monday returned to a 15-member Indian squad for the Asia Cup while senior pacer Jasprit Bumrah missed out owing to a back injury. The Asia Cup will be held in Dubai and Sharjah from August 27 to September 11. Rahul, who did not feature in the T20 series against the West Indies due to Covid-19, has recuperated from his sports hernia surgery, and is back as vice-captain. The notable names dropped from the main squad are batter Shreyas Iyer and left-arm spinner Axar Patel. Seamer Deepak Chahar, who has had a four-month lay-off due to a hamstring tear and a back injury was also among reserves.

The other absentee from the squad was pacer Harshal Patel, owing to a rib injury. "Jasprit Bumrah and Harshal Patel were not available for selection owing to injuries. They are currently undergoing rehab at the NCA in Bengaluru," the BCCI said. Coach Rahul Dravid and captain Rohit Sharma, along with the five-member selection committee, have identified the core 20 players going ahead and it is only logical that there won't be any massive changes by the time the T20 World Cup-bound squad is announced.

The 15 for the Asia Cup, the three standbys and the two injured players (Bumrah and Harshal) are now the core team. While Axar could feel a bit shortchanged, the presence of four spinners meant that there wasn't a space for a fifth slow bowler. Squad: Rohit Sharma (Captain), KL Rahul (VC), Virat Kohli, Suryakumar Yadav, Deepak Hooda, R Pant (wk), Dinesh Karthik (wk), Hardik Pandya, R Jadeja, R Ashwin, Y Chahal, Ravi Bishnoi, Bhuvneshwar Kumar, Arshdeep Singh, Avesh Khan. Standbys: Deepak Chahar, Axar Patel, Shreyas Iyer.

DAY OF HIT AND MISS FOR HOST PLAYERS

India B draw Uzbekistan to hand latter the advantage in Open section, Tania sizzles to help India A regain lead

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Mahabalipuram

India B split points with Uzbekistan on Monday | R SATISH BABU

ON a day when Tania Sachdev helped the hosts to a commanding 3.5-0.5 win over Kazakhstan, all the drama and tension was reserved for the match between India B and Uzbekistan in the Open section. R Praggnanandhaa, with a pawn and rook end game, had delivered a win after two draws on the 2nd and 4th boards. On the first board, the unbeaten D Gukesh, 16, was involved in a titanic tussle with Nodirbek Abdusattorov, 17. There was a lot of hype coming into the match — the Uzbekistani is the reigning World Rapid champion while the Indian is one of the youngest ever to breach the 2700 ratings mark — and it lived up to it. For a vast majority of the match, Gukesh, with white pieces, enjoyed a good position while Abdusattorov, who was playing at rapid speed early on, was playing catch up.

But a few questionable moves in the end cost Gukesh the game, India the tie as well as the lead at the top with one round to go. What transpired at the end was heartbreaking to watch. In an okay position, Gukesh had moved the knight to f3. As soon as he made that move, the engines gave Abdosattorov the advantage as long as he spotted the queen to b2. He did that for a check. It was a blunder because Gukesh would have lost his knight, giving his opponent more attacking pieces on the board. As soon as the opponent made this move, Gukesh, realising his blunder, was so distraught he preferred to bury his head in his hands. Already running short on time, he ran out of it and the Uzbek pointed out that he had no time remaining to respond.

Splitting two points means Uzbekistan remain top with 17, where they have been joined by Armenia. India B, India A and US are third, fourth and fifth respectively, with 16 points (India B have the advantage on tie-breaks).

If it was a disappointing day for India B in the Open section, the women's India A team recovered from Sunday's disappointments to regain sole lead. Facing Kazakhstan, the trio of Koneru Humpy, Bhakti Kulkarni and Sachdev returned with drama-free wins. While it was a welcome return to form for the seasoned Humpy after two draws and one loss in her last three games, the 35-year-old Sachdev is the one powering the top seeds. Her victory over Xeniya Balabayeva was her sixth in ten games. That she hasn't been given a rest while the likes of Humpy and D Harika, who didn't feature on Monday, have been given an off day reflects her importance to the set-up (R Vaishali, who drew, is another who has played all 10 games so far).

What she has had to do, she has done with minimal fuss. Against Balabayeva, for example, she finished the match in 31 moves. Playing with white pieces, she went with a queen pawn opening. She was a bit loose at first, losing both a pawn and a knight. But her focus was on long-term positional integrity over short-term gains. She restored parity a few moves later before gradually making inroads into Balabayeva's half. They traded their rooks in the 23rd move but by the time, Sachdev's pieces had a better look to them.

CWG silver a promise to build on for India women, but a lot more left to do

GOMESH S @Chennai

IT was going to be history either way. Whether they beat Australia in the final or not, Harmanpreet Kaur and her brigade had already made their mark at the Commonwealth Games. But that's not all they wanted. They wanted more. They wanted the Indian national anthem to be played as they took to the podium.

As India lost eventually by a meagre nine runs, finishing with silver, the reactions from the players across the podium were different. Some seemed overwhelmed by the occasion, some seemed happy, but at the corner of the line was Harmanpreet, whose body language summed up the way not just the team, but the millions of fans who were cheering for them.

She was trying to smile, but the hurt was visible. She has been here before not just once, but twice. Five years ago in England and two years ago in Australia, moments that could have changed things for good for women's cricket in India. Despite making history, her anguish was visible. This is not to say that the other players weren't hurt. From the moment they left for England, every player had spoken about going for gold and nothing else.

But given where she is in her career, and having watched the women's sport transform from when she started, it seemed like the loss hurt her a bit more. Especially after the way India crumbled since her dismissal. To be precise, they lost the last eight wickets for 34 runs.

"Every time in big finals, we make the same mistakes again and again (with the bat), that is something we have to improve. We don't do these mistakes in the league phase or in bilateral. That is blocking our mind somewhere," an emotional Harmanpreet said after the match.

Make no mistake, there are so many positives to take. Whether it's the rise of Renuka Singh Thakur or the aggression the top-order has shown, or the guile of the spinners or the top-notch fielding against Australia in the final.

Sunday was one of those days where India truly outfielded their opponents. And to win silver in their maiden CWG appearance after the early exit in the World Cup in March is a great achievement nonetheless.

That said, when push came shove on the day that mattered the most, they couldn't deliver. There were three run outs in the last four wickets, Ashleigh Gardner almost got a hat-trick and with every wicket, the panic seemed to go only up. But it was not just about handling the pressure.

Through the tournament, India had some questionable selection calls (some even before they left), on-field tactics and their batting-order, especially in the final.

For example, India used quite a few additional bowling options. While it worked in the group stages, in both the semi-final against England and the final, they were taken apart with ease, letting go of the pressure that was built. Meghna Singh took just three wickets and had the first worst economy (8.00) in the tournament. And, they had left behind one of the aggressive middle-order batters in Richa Ghosh.

THERE is always an inexplicable dilemma of excitement and despondency when a student starts packing to leave India and study in an educational institution abroad. The miles to go before I sleep feeling dangles a bright future in front of these achievers which battles with the unshakeable bonds that have grown strong over the years with friends and family.

With advice aplenty for a life abroad from self-proclaimed pundits, students also pack memories besides the passport and supporting documents. The flight awaits, and they can almost hear the call for boarding, and the engines roar; the wheels lift off from the motherland.

Preparing for the course starting this September, Neswa Noushad is awaiting her visa process to begin. After a bachelor's degree in dental sciences, she will be pursuing masters in digital health from the University of Bristol in the United Kingdom. As the sand of time slips from her hand, Noushad says leaving behind her family is harder than she had imagined. "It's a new place, and the thought that I'll be all by myself without any backing from my friends and family scares me," she admits, adding, "I am going to miss my pet cats terribly. They are family too."

Rahul Nair, who is preparing for his undergraduate studies in the United States of America, will miss the get-togethers when he lands in the world's oldest democracy. It will be his home that he will miss the most, he says. "The thing I'll miss the most after I move will be the weekend family brunches. Every other week, my cousins come over and we spend time together. We also host game nights, and sometimes play until dawn," he recalls those days as if he has transported himself in the university dorm where he also has a meal plan. "I have enrolled for a degree in computer science with artificial intelligence at Georgia State University. The process was tedious, but counselling and classes have helped me prepare better," says the 18-year-old Nair.

It is not as scary as it sounds, and on the other hand could be exciting because of the complete volte-face of the milieu. Upset about being separated from her buddies, Tanishka Chauhan is only trying to focus on the positives. "It will be a fresh start with a potential for huge opportunities. I plan to stay with my uncle's family until I find a suitable place. I share a close bond with my family, but I am also looking forward to meeting new people in a different country," says Chauhan, who will be flying to Guelph, Canada in a few weeks.

For high school graduate Sanjana Sanjay Nair, it is the feeling of safety around the people she loves that she will miss while studying law at the University of Nottingham. "Home food, spending quality time with my parents, evening tea, board games with my cousin on Sundays... I will miss all of these. I will always cherish the memories with my friends of the many sleepovers, games, and never-ending conversations," says Nair.

I will be pursuing digital health from the University of Bristol in the UK. It's a new place, and the thought that I'll be all by myself without any backing from my friends and family scares me

Conclave for pioneering mothers held in city

Lakshmi Seshadri, founder of Mompower 360, organised 'Mompower Conclave 2022', which saw mothers who are also pioneers in their own fields share ideas with each other. The team of expert panellists comprised retired IPS officer Kiran Bedi; actor Priyanka Chopra's mother Dr Madhu Chopra; top fitness expert Simrun Chopra; Padma Shri awardee Dr Kamini Rao; actor Anu Prabhakar, and more. "My goal is to build safe communities of mothers to connect with each other to foster a feeling of sisterhood, whether one is a homemaker mom, working, an entrepreneur or a single mom," says Seshadri, a former model and Mrs India who was crowned Mrs Perfection among the top 10 of Mrs Universe in 2016. "For generations, women were asked to choose between family and their careers. I believe it's time we inspire mothers, and tell them they no longer have to choose as they can get the best of both worlds," she said.

WORRIES OF THE WILD SIDE

City-based artist Bharati Sagar's solo art show creates awareness on endangered species whose numbers are dwindling at an alarming rate

MONIKA MONALISA

WHEN the perils of climate change have heated up discussions in some of the highest platforms and governments around the world, the threat of biodiversity caused by shrinking numbers of endangered species in India has only been talked about, documented with miniscule or no action to protect them from extinction.

In crisis, art has often become the most powerful vessel of drawing attention to an issue. Artist Bharati Sagar has wielded the paintbrush and canvas for the latest solo show Preserving Magnificence, which is up at Reves Art Gallery till August 25, to present a larger-than-life exhibits of endangered species.

For the series, the artist has used materials like citric acid, industry waste and metal dust, bringing out the abstract lines and muted earthy tones.

To Sagar, the concept of using tigers, reindeers, Koala bear, owls, dolphins and other endangered species as her muse for her latest show, came during the Covid-19-induced lockdown. "During the pandemic, I read that animals are entering human habitats. I felt that they were sort of reclaiming their own space. The root of all this is the population explosion. The news will report that they have attacked or killed someone. When I researched and read about these animals, I found that they are dwindling in numbers," says Sagar, mother of Kamal Sagar, the founder of the real estate company Total Environment. "The decline in numbers of these animals are heavily dependent on the people," she says.

"I wanted to create an awareness among people about what is happening, why their numbers are reducing. It depends a lot on our ecology and on each other. So we have to take care of them to take care of ourselves," she explains. A few of her paintings have already found buyers, and the money collected has been donated to the Forest Department.

An animal lover since her childhood, Sagar is aware of the hunting culture in the country. "My father was in the army. During his holidays, he would go out with his friends for shikar. Sometimes we would also go along in a picnic mood. I was always in love with animals and was upset with my dad for doing what he did. In fact, I turned vegetarian when I was 7 years old which continued till I turned 13," Sagar recalls, adding that Koalas have captured a special place in her heart.

I wanted to create awareness among people about why the numbers of endangered species are reducing. It depends a lot on our ecology and on each other. We have to take care of them to take care of ourselves

STARTUP WATCH

BACKSTORY

MetroRide was started by ex-roomies Girish Nagpal and Kaaman Agarwal who faced the hurdle of last-mile connectivity to Metro stations in Bengaluru and East Bay, California respectively. They realised that the problem was not specific to either India or the US, but a global malady. The duo made it a mission to make public transport more accessible. While Nagpal came with 20 years in business operations, Agarwal had 19 years in technology solutions when they started.

USP

Unlike other ride hailing companies, MetroRide collaborates with and complements public transit agencies like Metro and suburban trains by bringing multimodal ticketing on the same app. MetroRide reduces average waiting time by over 80 per cent, and the average ride tariff by over 50 per cent. This 100 per cent EV-based, AI-enabled platform makes travelling seamless and sustainable. This value proposition ensures they have almost 100 per cent retention of their regular customers.

FINANCE FUNDA

The company is backed by angel investors from Silicon Valley and India, and has a collaboration with WRI. It is also supported by the UK Charity Shell Foundation. They raised ₹4 crore till seed stage, and are undergoing their pre-series round. They have a term sheet of $1.2 million already and plan to close the rest of this round soon.

TARGET AUDIENCE

Kaaman Agarwal

Girish Nagpal

The mobility-as-a-service market size was valued at $128 billion in 2021, and it is projected to foster at a CAGR of 16.8 per cent during 2021-2030, as per the P&S Intelligence Report. In India, over 800 crore rides are recorded on Metro and suburban trains every year. MetroRide aims to cater to these daily commuters for whom fast and economical rides are the key needs, according to a survey by the company. They serve the same customers each day, and hence, derive a higher lifetime value despite lower ticket size.

Graft robs grace

Retired IAS officer V Balasubramanian in his book Fall From Grace reveals how corruption in bureaucracy and stilted chief ministers have brought down the administration

ANAGHA PARVATHI

WHILE the Indian Administrative Service is associated with honour, power and position, when some aspirants finally enter the realm of bureaucracy, they encounter a machinery which is diametrically opposite the idyll. Assimilating his experiences of 38 years of service, retired IAS officer of the 1965-batch V Balasubramanian has written Fall From Grace, unravelling how corruption in the highest echelons – politics and judiciary – has become ubiquitous, attracting little social stigmatisation.

I was quite clear in my mind about what I'm going to put on paper from the beginning. I did not rebel against the state by definition. I felt that people have a right to know

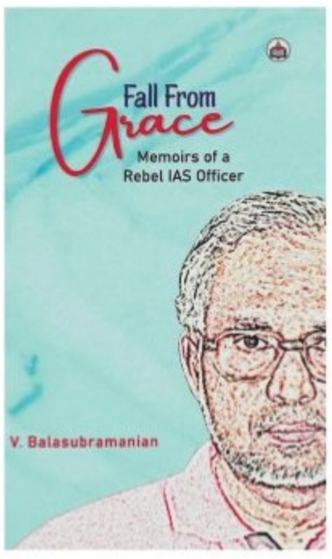
V Balasubramanian, former IAS officer

The title is a description of the loss of credibility and respect of political leaders and those leading the bureaucracy over the past five decades. In 2001, Balasubramanian retired as the chairman of the Task Force for the Prevention of Land Grabbing in Karnataka, where he uncovered land encroachment by those holding positions of power. When the government refused to print his report, titled 'Greed and connivance', he published and circulated it himself.

Across the country, Karnataka's position was among the top in terms of administration, which plunged when S Bangarappa became the chief minister, as he dismantled institutions by appointing people steeped in corruption in several departments. The book is an assessment of how the administration has deteriorated over time, its 'fall from grace'.

IAS officers are not restricted to a certain department or a ministry unlike other services. "In my 38 years of service, I've held about 10-15 positions, and have gathered a lot of experience. But not everyone writes about those days," admits Balasubramanian, whose tenure spanned several chief ministers, including Veerendra Patil, Devaraj Urs and Ramakrishna Hegde in different positions, giving him a strategic position to observe these leaders.

The book is replete with significant incidents and situations he had to manage during his service, but they are not arranged chronologically but are highlights which he could recall. Balasubramanian reveals that the idea of writing down some of the events of his career was churning in his mind for a long time. He was waiting for the right time and inclination. "The Covid-19 pandemic gave me enough time to put it all together on paper. It took me around five months to finish writing it and another five to six months were spent to get it published. So the book took about a year to come out," he adds.



He is an ardent admirer of former Chief Minister Devaraj Urs, who was the first of his category to try to usher in certain changes in the state to uplift backward classes, Dalits, minorities and propel them in political power, and he was successful. Balasubramanian has written about Urs' administration extensively, and says the former Chief Minister had a close connection with the district administration.

He was also secretary to Ramakrishna Hegde for three years, and termed him a good Chief Minister who did not try any experiments to alter the power structure in Karnataka. "Those who succeeded him like Bangarappa, SM Krishna, and others, with whom I have worked, do not come close to Urs and Hegde. They never collected money for themselves but for the party, unlike others. I have mentioned that in my book, and that's how the administration was destroyed," he explains.

The subtitle of his book is 'The memoirs of a rebel IAS officer'. "I was quite clear in my mind about what I'm going to put on paper from the beginning. I did not rebel against the state by definition. I felt that people have a right to know," he says of his intention behind the book.

This asymmetrical pose is also a creative way of lengthening the muscles of the sides, back and abdomen, having the lower body engaged with the crossing of the feet. It may be easier to perform while looking at the pose. It is a simple side bend, with detailed muscle work. Helps prepare the body for other creative poses.

- Inhale, raise the arms above your head, bend towards the right side of the body. Hold the left wrist with the right palm and stretch the left arm as far as you can go.
- Lengthen the left side before doing bending. Both of these are different ways to do the side bend.
- Keep the legs engaged with the knees pulled up and the core engaged with a slight tummy tuck, taking the side bend without losing balance.
- Keep breathing. There is a tendency to tilt forward, so consciously open the left shoulder outside and align the shoulders away from the ears. Bend with each breath.
- Keep the head and neck engaged and don't drop the neck. Stay as per capacity and extend as per body capacity. Listen to your body.

SOBER SOIRÉES

Call it careful consumption or a vacation from binge evenings, more & more 'sober-curious' people are looking to detox or maintain responsible social behaviour with hangover–free alternatives to beer, rum and gin

ASLAM GAFOOR

(The writer is a Bengaluru-based hospitality professional, food lover, and travel enthusiast)

A WIDE range of low-alcohol and zero-proof drinks and mixers are becoming increasingly popular at home parties and on bar menus these days. Call it careful consumption or a vacation from binge evenings, more and more 'sober-curious' people are looking to detox or maintain responsible social behaviour with hangover-free alternatives to beer, rum, gin, and wine.

For health-conscious customers, Sakurafresh has introduced a line of alcohol-free spirits, liqueurs, cocktail bitters, cocktail syrups, citrusy tarts, and tonic water concentrates. The drinks are a fusion of botanicals and herbs that are farmed responsibly using contemporary blending methods. Better Than Bitters, available in 16 varieties and a first in the zero-alcohol bitters category, are ideal for cocktails, infused drinks, and food preparations. Amaretto, Amaro Italiano, Italian Red Bitter, Reposado, and Negroni are among the alcohol-free liqueurs and spirits offered by Sakurafresh. You can drink any of these without alcohol or, if you prefer, add a dash of your favourite spirit.

With a collection of spirits, wines, and beers, Zero Percent offers consumers alcohol-free options so they may indulge responsibly while having fun. The refreshing Coast Beer uses the best ingredients, cutting-edge yeast cultures, and contemporary brewing methods to make beers both vegan and alcohol-free. The Noughty Sparkling Chardonnay, a great aperitif wine, is made entirely from Chardonnay grapes grown in southern Spanish vineyards and has only 14 calories per glass with no alcohol. GinISH and RumISH, two ISH Spirits products, offer well-known flavours in our favourite cocktails with no or little alcohol. RumISH is produced from natural botanicals such as Madagascar vanilla, nutmeg, and chili, while GinISH is made from juniper berries, coriander seeds, and chili.

A previous version of Salud's ready-to-drink gin and tonic, called G&T 2.0, came in three flavours: Original, Cucumber, and Lavender. They have recently introduced three additional pour-and-enjoy low-alcohol varieties, including the Salud Strong, Salud Sonic, and a Watermelon & Mint G&T 2.0. Three new non-alcoholic bitters from Salud have also been released; they provide foods and beverages a flavourful, well-balanced depth. The line of fruit and herb-infused bitters includes Citrus Twist with orange, tangerine, and lemon notes, Summer Dust with the coolness of pear and the sharpness of pineapple, and Tropical Dew with notes of mangoes and grapefruit.

Jimmy's Cocktails entered the market with a variety of mixers to improve the experience of enjoying bar-style creative cocktails at home as a mocktail or mixed with your preferred spirit. The seven low-calorie mixers are Bloody Mary, Cosmopolitan, Mango Chili Mojito, Margarita, Whiskey Sour, Sex on the Beach, and their most recent Gin Cherry Sour, which was developed in partnership with Greater Than gin brand. The Gin Cherry Sour is expertly crafted using real Turkish cherries, the finest limes, and a delicate ginger flavour to offset the moderate spiciness.

A lighter option than most on a bar menu, hard seltzers are carbonated drinks with a lower alcohol concentration. Four variants of Pursue Hard Seltzer with a 5 per cent alcohol level and fewer than 110 calories were recently introduced in Bengaluru. They are: Mosambi and Mint, Strawberry and Rose, Peach and White Tea, and Mango and Chilli.The slender bottle is modelled after the crown top soda bottles and features eye-catching visual reflections produced by the grooves.

Spyk Hard Seltzer is an all-natural, fermented beverage with fantastic flavours, little calories, with no hangover the next day. This delectable blend of soda, gluten-free alcohol, and natural fruit flavours is first launching in Bengaluru with four exquisite flavours: original, lime, orange, and mixed berry.

Svami offers a variety of zero-alcohol mixers which can be combined with spirits and juices for a refreshing mocktail or a cocktail. The variants include Svami Light Tonic Water, Original Tonic Water, Grapefruit Tonic Water, Cucumber Tonic Water, 3 Cal Tonic Water, Ginger Ale, Soda Water, 2 Cal Cola and Salted Lemonade. If you're looking for a chilled, refreshing beer without the heady buzz, some zero-options include Heineken, Copter 7, Kingfisher Ultra, and Hoegaarden.

Long wait for justice inside prison cells

BALA CHAUHAN

IT was an early morning call from the then prison chief asking me to come to the Central prison. "I would like to share with the media the recovery we have made from inside the prison. Please come," he said and disconnected. The Bangalore Central Prison is quite far from the Central Business District. I reached there after spending almost two hours in Bengaluru's notorious traffic.

Upon reaching, I was taken straight to the office of the chief superintendent, where his boss, the prison chief, was sitting. A corner of the wall was submerged with oddly shaped paper balls. The officer explained they were all contraband narcotic drugs, which his prison staff has seized from inside the cells. He also showed me a stash of mobile phones (those were the good old days of basic models) and kitchen knives, which were part of the haul. "How did all these enter the prison," I asked.

"The drugs, wrapped in papers, were tossed over the prison walls by visitors of prisoners, and the cell phones and knives were concealed in food boxes, fruits, which were given to them during their 'interview' with family members," was his reply.

He praised his staff for the recovery. These things can only be curbed, he said, not stopped completely inside the prison because of the human element. The officer was honest and candid. A prison is a house of humans with curtailed freedom. But humans they are; most would say evil.

Outside the office, there were men in white clothes and caps, busy doing some cleaning up, and odd jobs. These were convicts, who because of good behaviour, were assigned some jobs in the administrative block.

One of them was a doctor. I was introduced to him. The man had spent a little less than 14 years' sentence for murdering his wife and was about to be released on account of good behaviour and a clean record. "He is a doctor and attends to prisoners who take ill at the prison hospital," the officer said while introducing him. He joined his palms in a diffident namaskara and I responded with equal humility.

"Why did you kill your wife?," I asked. "It happened, madam," he mumbled with a distinct remorse in his voice, while making eye contact with me. At that point, I saw some more men donning white caps look up.

Suddenly, I felt that a line divided me and the prison officers from the prisoners. I felt stifled not because of anything but a realisation about my own freedom. That I could walk out of the prison into the open air which was not an option for those who are awaiting justice for their crimes, and that is the biggest punishment, bigger perhaps than the guillotine.

A majority of them spend their lives as under trial prisoners awaiting justice. Freedom is invaluable, and to preserve it, one must be responsible. Freedom is such a given until taken away by a rude stroke of life.

During the Covid-19 pandemic, under the Supreme Court directions, prisons were asked to decongest following due diligence. I came across some convicts who refused to go out. They dreaded life outside the prison with the raging pandemic and lack of basic health facilities. For them, it was not about going back to an eagerly waiting family, but the fear of adding another hungry mouth to feed out of a meagre family kitty further depleted by the pandemic. "Why do you stay in prison when the door is so wide open," the 13th-century Persian poet Jalaluldin Rumi said about the human condition. The bird in the cage does not answer.

LET'S GO TO KARAOKE

MY first-ever real interaction with Karaoka was at a karaoke bar in Japan in 2007, when our host insisted on taking us to absorb some local cultural after a concert. He insisted that we all participate, and after a few rounds at the mic, we all felt quite relaxed, amused and a fan of this form of entertainment.

Karaoke is easy to do even if you don't know a song well, because the backing track usually has an instrument (like the flute or synthesiser) playing a guide melody line, and the words appear on the screen and are highlighted when you are supposed to sing them. Although only about 50 years old, it has become a very popular form of musical entertainment the world over. There's something about silly, over-exaggerated singing (solo or group), that brings out a sense of childish abandon which leaves you relaxed and others amused. Millions of people around the world enjoy karaoke in different settings, be it a karaoke bar or, home party, or a family evening, and it does seem to have several benefits apart from being a good source of recreation and socialisation:

1. Stress Relief: Singing makes people happy and decreases stress and anxiety levels. It also releases endorphins and slows the heart rate down.
2. Improved Memory: When singing karaoke, the mind pulls up memories associated with the song. It also stimulates the part of the brain associated with concentration and learning.
3. Improved Breathing: While singing karaoke, people tend to take deeper and longer breaths, in order to sing full lines, instead of breathing after every couple of words. This exercise helps build breathing control over a period of time and improves general health. It also helps regulate breathing when people are feeling anxious.
4. Brain Stimulation: Singing requires an understanding of pitch, rhythm, lyrics, and along with the music. Doing all of these things together stimulates the brain.
5. Confidence Building: Singing karaoke, whether in front of family, or friends, or a room full of strangers is a great confidence builder.
6. Helps Handle Emotions: Song choices often give you an insight into a person, what their favourites are, and what their current mental state is. Singing karaoke is a great way to process emotions that one is dealing with, and communicate feelings in a unique way.
7. Talent Showcase: Karaoke is a low stakes way to perform in front of an audience and showcase your talent. It doesn't require too much preparation, and if it goes well, it's a great way to make a positive impression on an audience.

If you haven't tried karaoke yet, it's my best suggestion for your next family night, or party.

'WE WERE CAREFUL NOT TO LOSE THE BRAND CREATED IN GAALIPATA'

Ganesh

Ganesh talks about his upcoming film, Gaalipata 2, his fourth collaboration with Yogaraj Bhat, and more

A SHARADHAA

GANESH has an emotional connection with Gaalipata. It was the Golden Star's sixth project and his second collaboration with Yogaraj Bhat. This was his follow-up to the blockbuster Mungaru Male, and Gaalipata cemented his household name status. With Gaalipata 2 nearing release, Ganesh admits that the sequel brought back memories of the original. "The current weather in Bengaluru reminded me of being on the sets of Gaalipata in Kodachadri and Kudremukh. I'm still haunted by the locations, the shooting process, and the dialogues, which are still fresh in my mind. Gaalipata has been a special film in my career. It was a film that emotionally connected me with the audience, and we are confident that it will be the case with Gaalipata 2 as well," shares Ganesh ahead of the film's release on August 12.

Ganesh shares that comparisons with the original will be inevitable, and it is definitely a good sign. "The audience, who enter the theatres with the expectation of Gaalipata, will slowly shift their thoughts to Gaalipata 2. I also felt the same thing when I watched the first copy," he says.

This is the fourth combination of Yogaraj Bhat and Ganesh, who have previously worked in Mungaru Male, Gaalipata, and Mugulu Nage. Such collaborations are a rarity in Kannada cinema, and Ganesh attributes it to the offbeat thinking of the filmmaker. "Yogaraj Bhat thinks out of the box... Swalpa hatke. His story, and thought process are different, especially in the films I've been part of," says Ganesh, who also delves into Yogaraj's filmmaking style. "There definitely has been a change in his style of filmmaking. Today there is fun in his philosophical thoughts, and his lyrics in the Prayasaha song will haunt everybody. He is a fantastic writer, who has matured with time. But his crazy thoughts are still intact, and this habit of his will never die," he says.

But what about the changes that have been incorporated into him? "Actually... Nothing. I wish to stick to the basics that were adopted at the beginning of my career. I want to remain the same Ganesh that the audience have loved over these years. Of course, characters are what bring the changes in us. Amma mado chitrana yavagalu bore agola, and will never feel monotonous (The lemon rice prepared by a mother will never get bored, and monotonous). Likewise, the audience has showered constant love on me, and I like to retain the flavor despite changing the taste with the various characters."

Ganesh, at one point in his career, had 7 hits in a row. Does he still understand the pulse of the audience? "People are exposed to different genres of cinema, and they are open to watching films made in various languages. It has only given us the business as well as the challenges to do better. Badalavaneye Badukina Moola (Change is the source of life). We can't be stagnant. An actor is like water and should adapt according to the flow and paths of each film. We were careful not to lose the brand created in Gaalipata," he says.

The film with an ensemble cast has Ganesh sharing screen space with Diganth and Pawan Kumar. "I knew both of them very well, it was fun working with them," says Ganesh, who makes a special mention of Anant Nag. "He is a legend, and working with him is fun, and around him, it is always a learning process," says Ganesh, who sums up with a note on Gaalipata 2. "This is an entertaining film on friendship, and as Gani, I have a role to play in everybody's life."

Pawan Kumar | Fahadh Faasil

Pawan Kumar to helm Fahadh Faasil's next backed by Hombale Films

CE FEATURES

After the blockbuster success of KGF series, Hombale Films are expanding into multiple industries across Indian cinema. Presently, they have high-budget entertainers underway like Salaar with Prabhas, Tyson with Prithviraj, and a yet-to-be-titled project with Sudha Kongara.

With their tweet wishing Fahadh Faasil on his birthday, speculations have risen about a collaboration between the production house and the National Award-winning actor. They wrote, "To the person who mines distinctive characters from his surroundings and makes us fall in awe with his gripping acting. An entertainer par excellence. To the King of method acting, a very Happy B'day! It's time to vanish into a new character!!!" It is that last line that added fuel to the raging speculations.

The buzz is that this project would be Lucia and U-Turn director Pawan Kumar's Dvitva, which was supposed to star Puneeth Rajkumar and Trisha in the lead. Fahadh is expected to replace the late actor in the film. Incidentally, there were reports that Puneeth was set to headline the Kannada version while Fahadh might be roped in for the Malayalam and Tamil versions. In fact, Puneeth expressed his excitement about the development. However, now, it is expected that Fahadh will headline the film in all its versions.

An official confirmation about the collaboration between Hombale Films, Fahadh Faasil and Pawan is expected to be out soon. It isn't sure yet if this would indeed by Dvitva or a new project altogether. Meanwhile, Pawan is currently busy with the promotions of Gaalipata 2, which is releasing on August 12. Apart from Pawan, the Yogaraj Bhat directorial also stars Ganesh and Diganth.
